INDIA vs PAKISTAN

FLYING TO COLOMBO? PAY ₹1.18L FROM DEL

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Chennai

IN less than 24 hours after Pakistan government cleared its team to play India on February 15, the excitement is visible everywhere. But nothing surpasses the aviation sector. The carriers have hiked ticket rates between most India cities to Sri Lanka's capital and some tickets are being sold over ₹1 lakh return. The cheapest non-stop direct return flight from Delhi to the Sri Lankan capital for the game is ₹1,18,961 (as on Tuesday evening). Normally, it's below ₹30,000 if you were to book tickets in this sector.

Indigo, an LCC, usually charges in the region of ₹16,000 for a direct return flight from Chennai. It's at ₹54,475 for the coming weekend (leaving on February 14 and returning on the Monday post game). Because Chennai is just an 80-minute flight away from Colombo, it would make sense for people to book return domestic flights to Chennai and fly to Colombo from Chennai. Fans departing from Mumbai will have to cough up approximately ₹82,000. Even hotel prices are surging. Some star hotels are charging six to 10 times more. One famous star landmark is priced at ₹1.50 lakh a night (normal days it's ₹10k). The match could also see ICC chair, Jay Shah, and Pakistan Cricket Board chief, Mohsin Naqvi, share the stage. P19

Factsheet shows free access to US pulses in the Indian market

White House's new document reveals farm products not mentioned in joint statement

PUSHPITA DEY @ New Delhi

EVEN as questions linger over the fine print of the India-US trade arrangement, fresh details are emerging from official releases put out by both sides. On Tuesday, the White House issued a factsheet which had some elements not explicitly mentioned in the joint statement released last weekend.

The US document says India will allow duty-free import of certain pulses. The joint statement had no mention of this.

According to the Trump administration, India will eliminate or cut tariffs on specific pulses and a range of industrial goods, alongside a broad basket of US farm and food products. These include dried distillers' grains, red sorghum, tree nuts, fresh and processed fruits, soybean oil, wine and spirits, among others.

Currently, India imports pulses worth $5.5 billion. Out of this, import from the US accounts for just $90 million.

Earlier, India's commerce ministry had indicated a more calibrated approach. Lentils were placed under 'highly sensitive' agricultural items, with liberalisation to be done through tariff rate quotas, allowing limited quantities at lower duties.

Even this partial opening has drawn criticism from farm groups who fear such gradual market access could affect Indian farmers over time.

The US factsheet also lists agricultural products among the categories that would contribute to the proposed $500 billion worth of exports to India over five years.

The joint statement had used softer language, saying India 'intends' to purchase $500 billion worth of US energy products, aircraft and parts, precious metals, technology goods, and coking coal.

Indian officials have clarified that a significant portion of these imports would be linked to requirements for data centres, global capability centres, aircraft, engines and parts.

The US factsheet states both countries will "significantly increase bilateral trade in technology products and expand joint technology cooperation".

No-trust notice in, Speaker steps away from House work

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

PUSHING the political confrontation between the government and the Opposition to a bitter new high, the Congress-led Opposition on Tuesday submitted a notice for moving a resolution to remove Om Birla from the office of Lok Sabha Speaker, alleging he had acted in a blatantly partisan manner and 'abused' the constitutional office he occupies. Sources said a discussion on the motion could take place on March 9, the first day of the second part of the Budget Session.

While Birla directed Lok Sabha Secretary General Utpal Kumar Singh to examine the notice, sources said that he will not preside over the House till the matter is settled.

Article 96 of the Constitution bars a speaker or deputy speaker from presiding over the House sitting while a resolution for his removal from office is under consideration.

Congress' deputy leader in the Lok Sabha Gaurav Gogoi, chief whip K Suresh and whip Mohamed Jawed submitted the notice signed by around 120 MPs, under Article 94(c) to the Lok Sabha Secretary. The notice was signed by several Opposition parties, including the SP, Left, RJD, Shiv Sena (UBT), NCP-SP and the DMK. It holds Birla responsible for disallowing Leader of Opposition (LoP) Rahul Gandhi and other Opposition leaders from speaking in the House on the Motion of Thanks to the President's address, as well as for suspending eight MPs.

However, TMC refrained from signing the notice. TMC leader Abhishek Banerjee said his party has "no problem" in signing the notice, but stressed that the Opposition should first approach the Speaker with their grievances, such as the suspension of eight MPs.

The decision to submit the notice was taken at a meeting of floor leaders in the office of Mallikarjun Kharge. It was also decided that the Opposition will attend the discussion on the Union Budget. Rahul is scheduled to speak on Thursday during the discussion.

Referring to Birla's remarks that he had "concrete information" that many Congress members might move towards Prime Minister Narendra Modi's seat and carry out "some unexpected act", the notice said it was derogatory in nature.

TAKEDOWN TIME BY SOCIAL MEDIA CUT TO 3 HRS ON A.I. ABUSE

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

THE Ministry of Electronics and Information Technology on Tuesday notified a new framework under which any synthetically generated information (SGI) or AI-generated content that includes sexual abuse material, non-consensual intimate images, obscene or sexually explicit content, or fake documents or electronic records will be treated as illegal. Under the framework, AI-generated content used for fraud, harassment, child abuse, misinformation, or any other criminal activity will be dealt with under the same laws as other illegal online content. Failure to comply may invite criminal action under various Indian laws, including the Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita, 2023.

The framework has been notified as amendments to the Information Technology (Intermediary Guidelines and Digital Media Ethics Code) Rules, 2021.

The new rules mandate that AI-generated content must be clearly and prominently labelled as "synthetically generated". The label should be easy for viewers to notice and must include permanent metadata or technical markers.

One of the most significant changes in the 2026 amendment is the sharp reduction in response timelines. Earlier, social media platforms had up to 36 hours to respond to government or police orders.

This has now been reduced to three hours. Grievances must be addressed within seven days instead of 15, urgent cases within 36 hours instead of 72, and certain takedown actions must be completed within two hours. In addition, platforms must inform users that misuse of AI tools can lead to punishment.

SC AGREES TO CONSIDER PLEA AGAINST HIMANTA

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Tuesday decided to list and hear a plea filed by CPI and CPI(M) leaders against Assam Chief Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma over a viral video showing him taking aim and firing a gun at members of a particular community.

Lawyer Nizam Pasha, for CPI and CPI(M), submitted that the court should hear the matter urgently as disturbing speeches were made by Sarma against a community. Chief Justice of India Surya Kant, while hearing the plea, said, "The problem is, as soon as elections come, part of the election is fought in the Supreme Court. That is the problem. We will find out and will give a date."

The petition objected to a public speech of Sarma on January 27 as well as a video shared on BJP Assam unit's X handle. The video of Sarma was taken down following an outrage. Separate pleas have been filed seeking FIRs against the chief minister for hate speech and communal polarisation.

Priyank's follower dances with pistol

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Kalaburagi

A video showing a follower of district in-charge minister Priyank Kharge and Afzalpur MLA MY Patil dancing while holding a pistol went viral on Tuesday. The aide, Matin Patel, is seen dancing with some others on a stage with the firearm in his hand. The Chowk police have filed a case.

Police Commissioner Dr Sharanappa SD told TNIE that a notice has been served to Matin Patel, who has replied that it was a toy gun made of plastic. He has also stated that he was dancing at a wedding ceremony of his relatives and his followers had videographed it. The police are verifying his reply, the commissioner said.

Reacting strongly to the incident, the state BJP said law and order has died in Kalaburagi. "It is Republic of Kalaburagi," the party taunted.

IN an unusual protest against the government and its officials, a farmer from Chikkamagaluru chopped two branches of a sandalwood tree inside the Vidhana Soudha premises on Tuesday. The police arrested Vishu Kumar, and registered a case against him. Kumar's action came a day after officials allegedly cut down 30 sandalwood trees belonging to him at Tarikere taluk in Chikkamagaluru district. P7

Group D staffer steals gold from bag of man visiting min at Soudha

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

A Group 'D' employee of the Department of Personnel and Administrative Reforms (DPAR), due for retirement in three months, was arrested for stealing around 300 gm of gold ornaments from a bag belonging to a person visiting the office of Urban Development Minister Byrathi Suresh. The accused, Anthony Das, was arrested on February 5, while the incident occurred on the previous day around 10 pm. The bag was kept on the bay window outside the minister's office (Room Number 316A) at Vidhana Soudha.

The visitor, Naveen, had come with a bag and kept it on the window before entering the minister's room. While going back, he forgot to take the bag. When he came the next day to collect the bag, the cash and gold ornaments inside it were missing. He filed a complaint with the jurisdictional Vidhana Soudha police.

"Das was seen checking the bag, taking only the gold ornaments and leaving the bag. Based on the footage, he was secured inside Vidhana Soudha. When the visitor entered Vidhana Soudha, policemen at the gates did not find any gold or cash in the bag except for some medical records. It is not clear if he had collected the valuables from somebody else inside Vidhana Soudha. The case is still under investigation," said an officer.

7 YRS AFTER NGT ORDERS, GREAT LAKES STILL IN DECLINE

Bellandur, Varthur lakes made global news because of a high level of pollutants, frothing and fire

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

DESPITE a National Green Tribunal (NGT) order seven years ago, and two reminders five years ago, the Karnataka government is yet to desilt, rejuvenate and revive Bellandur and Varthur lakes.

The two lakes made global news because of a high level of pollutants, frothing and fire. Agitated with the snail-paced work and government agencies blaming each other, experts and former NGT-appointed committee members have now sought a detailed report of expenses and work done. They are also looking at approaching NGT again.

On January 15, a team of experts met Bangalore Development Authority (BDA) Commissioner P Manivannan and Chairman NA Haris and submitted a memorandum to protect the two water bodies. The BDA is the custodian of the two lakes.

The experts pointed to unscientific inlet design, due to which sewage in entering storm water drains (SWD) and flowing into the lakes. They also pointed to silt entering the lakes, which negates all work done so far.

"There is a lack of transparency and accountability, particularly with Rs 576 crore kept in BBMP's escrow account for rejuvenation of the two lakes. The deterioration of water quality is evident, as water hyacinth and other invasive species can be seen in large areas. Reduction in the rajakaluve's width and encroachments continue to be a concern," said Jagadish Reddy, Bellandur and Varthur lakes warden.

Prof TV Ramachandra from the Centre for Ecological Sciences, IISc, and former committee member, said some desilting was done at Bellandur lake, but was stopped due to fund crunch. The Bangalore Water Supply and Sewerage Board (BWSSB) is yet to fill lakes with treated water. Despite High Court orders, the government has not cleared illegal colonies around the lakes and the pipeline running through Varthur Lake. The government must come out with a white paper on work done and amount spent, he said.

UV Singh, former committee member, added that work has slowed down after the committee was dissolved. As the assigned task is not completed, all the money spent so far is wasted. Work done should be thoroughly reviewed and completed, he said.

The former committee members pointed out that BBMP and BWSSB have been unable to arrest the flow of contaminated water into the two lakes from slums, SWDs and underground drains, despite the creation of diversion channels.

Rahul Priyadarshi, BWSSB engineer, said: "No treated water from Sewage Treatment Plants (STPs) is entering the two lakes. It is diverted through channels downstream to Dakshin Pinakini and Kolar. We built a 458MLD capacity STP, of which a 248MLD STP is being upgraded at Bellandur Lake. Another 90MLD STP has been set up in Bellandur Ammanikere. A 25MLD STP at Varthur Lake is yet to come up. It is delayed because of land issues."

BDA engineer member HR Shantarajanna said they wrote to BBMP in April 2025 to take over Varthur Lake, but BBMP refused, citing financial constraints. They also demanded a walkway and construction of a bandh, which is in violation of committee orders. BDA was told to only desilt the lakes, he said. In case of Bellandur, pending 20 per cent desilting will be completed by May 2026, and the lake will be handed over to BBMP.

BECC Commissioner D S Ramesh inspects one of the lakes on Tuesday

OFFICIALS MUST COORDINATE WITH BDA TO TAKE CUSTODY OF VARTHUR LAKE: EAST CITY CHIEF

Bengaluru East City Corporation (BECC) Commissioner D S Ramesh instructed his officials to coordinate with the Bangalore Development Authority (BDA) to take over custody of Varthur Lake. To review the current status of rejuvenation works of Bellandur and Varthur lakes within the corporation limits, to control and prevent inflow of sewage into the lakes and to ensure coordination among various departments, Ramesh conducted a joint inspection along with engineers from the city corporation, BDA and BWSSB as well as officials from the solid waste management department on Tuesday. Bellandur Lake is currently being maintained by BDA and after inspecting the desilting work, the commissioner instructed officials to complete the removal of silt from the lake on priority before the onset of monsoon. Ramesh received an update on the rejuvenation work of Varthur Lake from BDA engineers. The lake bund, inlets, boundary fencing and sluice gates were inspected, and officials were instructed to ensure effective maintenance. Ramesh directed the corporation officials to coordinate with the BDA and submit a report within one week regarding the handover process.

80 min fixed for Nali Kali not used creatively: KDA

RASHMI PATIL @Bengaluru

THE Kannada Development Authority (KDA) has asked the minister for school education and literacy to reconsider the continuation of the Nali Kali programme in schools.

A report by KDA says teachers at government primary schools have failed to utilise the 80-minute period each day meant for the Nali Kali project creatively. When the trained teachers retired, the guest teachers appointed in their place did not get the expected results as they did not receive appropriate training.

'Nali Kali' is a programme under which Class 1 to 3 children learn alphabets and Maths through various activities prescribed in the syllabus instead of rote learning under the guidance of the teacher.

It was first started in Heggadadevana Kote, Mysuru, in 1995-96 and expanded to all government Kannada medium schools in the state in 2010-11.

Purushottam Bilimalle, President of KDA, said, "Nali Kali is child-centric programme where teacher has to be alert to make it happen. Out of the total 80 minutes of class time, children should be engaged in group activities for the first 10 minutes. In the next 10 minutes, students should identify their learning position or ability, take the relevant colour cards and learning materials and use them appropriately. In the third 10 minutes, the teacher should guide the children in the right way. If the teacher gives instructions in the right way, learning will continue effectively. In the next 40 minutes, the learning process continues through teaching. In the last 10 minutes, the child's learning is evaluated. The teacher should engage children through games, songs, stories, pictures and other activities." He added, "Teachers have to continuously record and evaluate the progress of students which is a laborious task. Since teachers are already burdened with many other tasks, they have not been able to manage it effectively."

In a total of 60 government schools surveyed by the KDA team across Karnataka, teachers have failed to form groups of children of Class 1, 2 and 3 by recognising their level of learning and ability to improve it. Thus, impacting the language learning and numeracy skills, the report stated.

The report also says that children who studied under the Nali Kali scheme up to the third class are finding it difficult to adapt to a different system in the fourth class. It has not improved the quality of language learning in primary education. The impact of this is clearly visible in the later stages of education especially in Class 4 to 10.

The department has also failed to supply sufficient learning materials (stickers, picture lists, charts, etc.) required to conduct classes. Failing to understand the importance of this programme and lack of teachers at schools, most parents have admitted their children to private schools resulting in the decrease of admissions in government schools, the report found.

16 engineers to monitor B-SMILE's road work

AKNISREE KARTHIK @Bengaluru

TO the Bengaluru Smart Infrastructure Ltd (B-SMILE), the special purpose vehicle (SPV) of the Greater Bengaluru Authority (GBA), aiming to white-top nearly 500 km of roads in the city by 2028, a key hurdle is the shortage of dedicated engineers.

Officials said that apart from mandatory clearances and time-consuming shifting of utilities, the absence of engineers exclusively assigned to monitor the work has further delayed execution.

To ensure time-bound completion and adherence to prescribed standards, BSMILE plans to hire 16 engineers on contract. They will be tasked solely with supervising the white-topping work across the city.

"White-topping works are under way in different parts of the city. While we aim to complete them within the stipulated time, delays occur due to permissions from multiple departments, shifting of utilities and other unforeseen issues. Sometimes, the real problems surface only after roads are dug up. Having dedicated engineers on site will help us address such hurdles quickly and proceed with the work," a senior BSMILE official said.

In one such instance, a British-era stormwater drain was discovered when the then BBMP took up white-topping in Cottonpet. The drain collapsed during excavation, significantly delaying the project.

As per the direction of Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar, the plan is to white-top 500 km of roads over the next three years. "To execute this mammoth task, we need dedicated engineers," the official added.

The process of recruiting 16 engineers with experience in executing similar projects under Central and State governments, public sector undertakings or urban local bodies is under way. Of them, four will be appointed as junior engineers and 12 as assistant engineers.

SUMMER-READY

BWSSB to instal mini water tanks in select areas

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

AHEAD of summer, Bangalore Water Supply and Sewerage Board (BWSSB) said it has ramped up preparations to effectively manage water demand and address potential scarcity in specific pockets of the city.

BWSSB Chairman V Ram Prasath Manohar on Tuesday said the board is fully prepared to tackle the season's challenges. He chaired a high-level review meeting with senior officials to assess summer preparedness.

After the meeting, he stated that the Board has already identified high-density areas and localities likely to face water shortage. To mitigate this and ensure free access to drinking water for residents, the Board has decided to instal mini water tanks in identified locations.

Manohar issued strict instructions regarding the logistics of filling these tanks and emphasized that priority must be given to BWSSB's own tankers and 'Sanchari Cauvery' mobile tankers. He said private tankers should be rented only as a last resort.

Warning against any negligence in management of summer shortage, Manohar instructed all chief engineers, assistant executive engineers and water inspectors to move out of their offices and remain on the field to manage the situation.

"Officials must visit their respective jurisdictions daily, assess the ground reality, and ensure that water reaches the identified areas without fail," he asserted.

Horoscopes By Holiday

HOLIDAY MATHIS

11th February : Impressionable Moments of a Venus Pisces Some of your thoughts steer you from trouble, guide you toward goals and dreams, and encourage and inform your journey. Some of your thoughts are just garbage. They drift in through the environment and are not to be believed. To set the tone for this Venus journey through Pisces, be the master of your mind, not its servant. Decide what to think and then repeat those fortifying ideas.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
Short-term pleasures such as sugar, doomscrolling, novelty, shopping and validation hits and the like are designed to spike your delight and then leave you restless. Seek the slower burn you get from learning something new, using your creativity or physicality.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 - May 20)
Each small success builds confidence and reduces fear of failure. See each attempt as feedback, not a final verdict. That mindset makes action less intimidating. Remind yourself why you care about solving the problem. The "why" often outweighs fear.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 21)
What are you dreading? Handle that first. Today, diving right into the dreaded order of business will turn out to be laughably easy, and it's all good moods and vibes from there.

CANCER (June 22 - July 22)
Adventure isn't only spectacle; it's a shift in perspective. Something routine can still open up a world to you because recent intellectual leaps have stirred your curiosity to new levels. Now there is something remarkable here to discover.

LEO (July 23 - Aug. 22)
There's a decision to be made. Before you make the call, do some brainstorming. Throw out the weird, the wild, the half-baked -- the more you come up with, the sharper your ideas get, and suddenly, problems start looking like playgrounds.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22)
Everything good around you was, at an earlier juncture, a complete problem for someone. Fate is the culmination of one solution after another. So don't worry about the difficulties of the day. Every last one is an opportunity.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 - Oct. 23)
Don't forget that senses come alive in your mind. It's a helpful idea when your environment gets too monotonous or downright oppressive. How you meet the environment is just as important as what's there to meet. Use humor and take poetic license.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 21)
You feel certain that what you're seeing on the surface of life contradicts what lies beneath. You're right about it. Depth is your natural terrain, and it calls you. A subtle question, silent observation or pause in judgment will uncover truth.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 - Dec. 21)
Teaching someone younger or older helps you understand how your generation fits -- a vital link, bringing together the whole. You're not behind or ahead; you're in the middle, translating. What you give comes back to you in a sense of belonging.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19)
Being organized puts you in control and ready for anything. Life moves quickly these days and surprises abound. It's good when your keys, glasses and wallet are easy to find. You move with life instead of chasing it.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18)
Every relationship has unique needs for closeness and space. You read the room so well and find just the distance the moment calls for. Your inspired approach will win you friends and fans.

PISCES (Feb. 19 - Mar 20)
Wishing someone would behave differently? Futile. Accepting the other person's behavior and building on it? Productive. Boss moves like this will be your norm on this productive day. Your star is on the rise.

Food and Civil Supplies Minister KH Muniyappa on Tuesday clarified that his recent visit to New Delhi was restricted to his department work. Speaking to TNIE, Muniyappa said he met Union Minister for Consumer Affairs, Food and Public Distribution Pralhad Joshi to seek the release of long-pending Minimum Support Price reimbursement claims

All 136 MLAs are with me, claims DKS, hopes for brass' decision in his favour

Shivakumar may discuss leadership change with Priyanka, to meet Venugopal today

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI @ Bengaluru

DECLARING that all 136 Congress MLAs, including Chief Minister Siddaramaiah, are with him, Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar, also KPCC president, kept his fingers crossed, hoping that the Congress high command will decide in his favour and hand him the chief minister's chair.

Shivakumar had made the exact same statement during the special Assembly session recently. In Delhi, he was reiterating it while replying to the statement by Ramanagara MLA and his supporter Iqbal Hussain that 80-90 MLAs are in Shivakumar's favour for the CM's post.

Shivakumar, also an AICC observer for the Assam Assembly polls, was in Delhi to discuss the poll preparations at a meeting convened by AICC General Secretary and Wayanad MP Priyanka Gandhi Vadra on Tuesday evening. He had skipped the pre-budget meeting by CM Siddaramaiah to take care of his commitment to the party.

Shivakumar is in the good books of Priyanka and chances of them discussing the leadership issue cannot be ruled out, sources said. On Wednesday, Shivakumar is planning to meet AICC General Secretary (organisation) KC Venugopal, Man Friday of Leader of Opposition in the Lok Sabha Rahul Gandhi -- who may not give his assent to leadership change.

"I don't have any confusion, others may have. Siddaramaiah and I know what we have spoken. It is no secret. Our high command is aware of it. Let others not be tensed about it. Issuing statements won't help anyone," he said before leaving for Delhi.

Siddaramaiah, who seems to be on the same page, said, "I won't speak about it. The high command's decision is final. I will adhere to it. Why should I go (to Delhi) if not called. I have budget preparation."

In the meantime, Council Congress chief whip Saleem Ahmed, a cabinet berth aspirant, met some high command leaders in Delhi and apprised them of the state's political scenario. Coming out, he was confident that cabinet reshuffle will happen after the budget session, likely to start on March 6. "The reshuffle should have happened before but it was postponed for various reasons. Fifty per cent of ministers should be dropped and be given party responsibilities to give an opportunity to new faces," he said.

Food and Civil Supplies Minister KH Muniyappa was also in Delhi on an official visit. "There is no confusion in the government. It is moving smoothly. The CM will present a good budget," he said. "Muniyappa is a strong contender for a deputy chief minister's post if the party high command gives assent as Siddaramaiah is said to be in favour of creating more DCM posts," sources said.

Women and Child Welfare Minister Laxmi Hebbalkar too was heading to Delhi. Her younger brother and MLC Channaraj Hattiholi said in Bengaluru that Shivakumar has the support of 136 MLAs. "Shivakumar had predicted 136 seats before the assembly polls. He deserves to be CM in the present term," he said.

Many Shivakumar sympathisers, including his younger brother DK Suresh, are camping in Delhi.

BJP SLAMS DCM FOR SKIPPING BUDGET MEETS

BJP on Tuesday criticised DCM DK Shivakumar for going to Delhi skipping the pre-budget meetings. Taking to social media, BJP's Karnataka unit slammed the DCM and said rather than preparing the state budget, he seems to prioritise high command and Delhi trips. "On one side, there is an empty treasury, on the other, street brawls among Congress leaders," BJP said. Further, the party said Ramanagara MLA Iqbal Hussain's and MLC Dr Yathindra's public squabbles and other issues are serving as a mirror reflecting the collapse of the administrative machinery.

HIGH COMMAND LIKE A TEMPLE, SAYS SATISH

Describing the Congress high command as a temple, Public Works Minister Satish Jarkiholi said, "We go there and tell our grievances and success stories and get solutions to our problems. Speaking to reporters near Brahmavidyanagar in Hosadurga taluk of Chitradurga district, he said, the state government is doing well on all counts. He said the opposition asks for votes in the name of Hindutva. "However, our government has been working for the development of all sections, including SCs/STs and is winning elections.

EXCISE 'SCAM'

Timmapur: Done no wrong, officials misused my name

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

KARNATAKA Excise Minister RB Timmapur, who was caught in the whirlwind of the alleged Rs 6,500 crore bribery in his department, on Tuesday reiterated that the officials misused his name to get money, saying that action will be taken against them.

Listing out what he called "revolutionary" reforms, which he claimed to have brought about, including e-auctioning of the licences, Timmapur said, "This portfolio (excise) is like that as there have been allegations against the previous minister as well. Allegations against me are all false."

He was addressing reporters after reviewing the progress of his department at Vidhana Soudha.

"I have implemented several reforms in issuing licences and renewing them. This seems to have caused trouble for many. That is why they are making allegations against me. The recognition of the organisation (Karnataka Wine Merchants' Association) that accused the department lapsed 20 years ago, and it does not exist at all," Timmapur said.

Hitting out at the BJP, he said the saffron party did not want the issue of the repeal of the UPA-era MGNREGA to be discussed in the recent special session of the legislature and hence was accusing him of a multi-crore scam.

Timmapur said that for the first time in the Excise Department, the Karnataka Civil Services (Excise Department Officers and Employees) Rules-2025 have been implemented from May 14, 2025, and the transfers of officials were carried out accordingly in an impartial and transparent manner. "As per these rules, 679 officers/employees have already been transferred on merit through digital counselling," he said. The rules have also been formulated to mandatorily not give any executive posts to officers/employees who are facing criminal cases or Lokayukta cases or departmental inquiries and who are under sentence, Timmapur added.

Excise Minister RB Timmapur addresses the media at Vidhana Soudha in Bengaluru on Tuesday | NAGARAJA GADEKAL

"Of the 3,293 officers/employees serving in the Excise Department, 2,957 belong to Group C and are undergoing the transfer process through transparent merit- based counselling. This will ensure that no corruption or other means are involved in the transfer," he said.

In 2025-26, 14,101 licenses were renewed online within 48 hours without any complaints and the renewal period has been extended from 1 year to five years, he elaborated.

Transparent e-auction

Excise Minsiter RB Timmapur said that the steps have been taken to e-auction 579 liquor licenses that are vacant or available, including 195 CL-2, 96 CL-9 and 288 CL-11 with reservation to SC and ST categories as promised in the state budget. "It is proposed to award 186 licences to Bengaluru Urban district and 383 contracts to other districts. The responsibility for carrying out the e-auction process has been given to MSTC- which is a 'Mini Rathna' Cat-1 PSU and comes under the Ministry of Steel, Government of India," he said, rubbishing his intervention in the issue of licences.

Excise dept records 13% growth at ₹33,371 crore

Excise Minister RB Timmapur said that the department has already collected a revenue of Rs 33,371.47 crore and will surpass Rs Rs 40,000 crore estimated in the budget for 2025-26 by the end of the financial year and year-on-year, there is a growth of Rs 3,910.87 crore at 13.72%. The districts of Kolar, Chikkaballapur, Tumakuru, Davanagere, Haveri, Ballari, Chitradurga, Bidar, Raichur, Dakshina Kannada, Kodagu, Uttara Kannada, Hassan, Mandya, Mysuru city and Mysuru rural have achieved more than expected progress. Steps have been taken to detect drug networks in the four excise districts of Bengaluru North division and drugs worth about Rs 5.34 crore have been destroyed, he added.

MUDA 50:50 SCAM

Lokayukta issues fresh notices to over 40 people

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Mysuru

THE controversial Mysuru Urban Development Authority (MUDA) 50:50 site allotment scam, which had earlier created ripples across Karnataka, is once again in the spotlight, triggering anxiety among both site sellers and beneficiaries.

In a major twist to the case, investigations into 134 MUDA files have been revived, giving fresh momentum to the probe into alleged large-scale irregularities in site allotments.

As part of the renewed investigation, the Lokayukta has issued notices to over 40 individuals who had obtained sites under the 50:50 scheme, sources said.

The scam pertains to allegations of illegal allotment of 1,055 residential sites, which reportedly resulted in a financial loss running into several thousand crores of rupees.

The Lokayukta has continued its investigation into the matter, examining violations of statutory norms and misuse of authority in the distribution of sites.

According to officials, fresh notices have also been served on former Mysuru Urban Development Authority commissioner Dinesh, Natesh, and several other officials and stakeholders connected to the case. They have been directed to appear for questioning.

The notices have reportedly been issued to both those who allotted sites in violation of legal procedures and those who benefited from the allotments, indicating that the probe is being widened to fix accountability at all levels.

Meanwhile, Lokayukta Superintendent of Police Udesh is said to have formally summoned the accused and beneficiaries, asking them to cooperate with the investigation and provide relevant documents and clarifications.

Centre adopts suggestion by state on performance-based allocation of funds

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

The state seems to have learnt its lesson from what happened to the grants that were supposed to come its way under the 15th finance commission.This time, the Centre has incorporated one of the prime suggestions made by the Karnataka State Finance Commission in the 16th Finance Commission report for 2026-31. "We had suggested that the utilisation certificate of schemes be stressed upon for allocating funds. We had recommended that the entire state should not be punished for the inability of some districts and departments to implement schemes. Instead, funds should be divided and allocated to districts and departments that are implementing the schemes," said Dr C Narayanaswamy, Chairman, 5th Karnataka State Finance Commission.

"It was suggested that the prolonged wait for funds should be addressed and a method should be derived for quick execution of work. It was suggested that each district submit a detailed account of the work orders and financial details on the utilisation of funds on quarterly basis for future allocations. The allocations of only those be withheld who are unable to upload the financial details and not punish the entire state," he said.

Experts at the finance commission said, "This will not only help in getting funds from the Centre on time, but also makes districts and departments accountable. It will be handy in maintaining audit reports, ensuring transparency and submitting bills to state finance commission, for better allocation." Another official from the 5th State Finance Commission said, "The 15th Finance Commission taught us many lessons. The present one is better than the previous one, but weaker than the 14th. We had suggested that the clause that makes holding elections mandatory for allocation of funds be excluded. But that has not been incorporated. The state lost around Rs 3,000 crore in grants from the 15th Finance Commission to panchayats and Bengaluru city for not conducting elections before March 31, 2026. This time, the Centre has also stressed upon submission of property tax collection and gross domestic product details of panchayats and urban local bodies for allocation of funds."

The official said a similar condition is being included while drafting a report on allocation of funds for the five Bengaluru corporations. The report will be submitted by February-end for governor's approval. "Unlike earlier, the devolution of funds will be based on wards and developmental schemes that need to be undertaken," the official said.

23,395 former Devadasis in 15 dists, rehabilitation package suggested

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

A survey report on devadasis conducted in 15 districts shows that 23,395 women have registered as former Devadasis, and recommends the announcement of a special package to rehabilitate them and their families. Women and Child Welfare Minister Laxmi Hebbalkar submitted the report, carried out by the Karnataka State Women Development Corporation, to Chief Minister Siddaramaiah on Tuesday.

The survey was conducted in 15 districts, including Vijayapura, Bagalkote, Raichur, Koppal, Dharwad, Haveri, Gadag, Kalaburagi, Yadgir, Chitradurga, Davanagere, Shivamogga, Ballari and Vijayanagar. It recommended that steps be taken to ensure that mentioning the father's name is not made mandatory in schools, colleges and various application forms. As a large number of those affected belong to Scheduled Castes, Scheduled Tribes and Backward Classes, it has suggested introducing special scholarship schemes for educational financial assistance, access to residential school facilities, and special training programmes to help them appear for various competitive examinations.

The survey report has also recommended providing health facilities under various government schemes to support rehabilitation, issuing Ayushman Bharat cards, and offering skill development training and financial assistance for economic activities, to help them lead self-reliant lives. It has further suggested providing training in areas such as agriculture, animal husbandry and related fields.

The survey covered the status of Devadasi families from the first generation to the third generation, and made several recommendations for their rehabilitation. The main objective of the survey is to bring former Devadasis into the social mainstream and ensure their overall welfare. The survey was conducted using a web application developed by the Directorate of Electronic Delivery of Citizen Services (EDCS).

According to the report, the five districts with the highest number of former Devadasis are Bagalkote with 4,189, Vijayanagara with 3,876, Belagavi with 2,649, Koppal with 2,469 and Ballari with 2,333. During the survey, data related to three generations of former Devadasi families was collected, including information on their social status, education, employment, agricultural land, skills, income, pension and other details. "As per the report, the government will initiate action to help them," minister Hebbalkar said.

WATER SHARING FOR BORDER DISTS

HDK, Kolar MP meet Naidu, discuss Krishna waters

V VELAYUDHAM @ Kolar

UNION Minister for Steel and Heavy Industries HD Kumaraswamy and Kolar MP Mallesh Babu, who met Andhra Pradesh Chief Minister Chandrababu Naidu, appealed to him to share Krishna river water with parched Kolar, Chikkaballapur and Bengaluru Rural districts. Mallesh Babu told Naidu that the three districts face severe drinking water shortage, and sharing Krishna waters will help the people greatly.

Chandrababu Naidu had visited Kumaraswamy's office to discuss developmental issues related to his state, and during this visit, Mallesh Babu submitted the memorandum. Diverting water to Kolar and Chikkaballapur districts, which lie along the Andhra Pradesh border, will prove to be a boon, he said.

Union Minister HD Kumaraswamy and Kolar MP Mallesh Babu submit a petition to Andhra Pradesh Chief Minister N Chandrababu Naidu | EXPRESS

People here have been facing drinking water shortage for many decades. The groundwater level in this area has dropped drastically, and the available water is unfit for drinking. Kumaraswamy explained to Naidu that even after drilling down 1500ft, water could not be found, and if found, was not potable. The Krishna, which flows adjacent to the districts, will help the people, he said. Naidu promised to thoroughly examine the appeal. He assured them he will hold a meeting with officials and that he was also aware about the issues.

During the meeting, Union Minister of State for Heavy Industries and Steel Bhupathiraju Srinivasa Varma, all Lok Sabha and Rajya Sabha MPs of the Telugu Desam Party, Jana Sena and BJP from Andhra Pradesh were present.

All-India Students' Federation, SFI, AIDSO, and AISA organisations held a protest to oppose the closure of over 25,000 government schools under the guise of the 'KPS Magnet' project at Gandhi Bhavan. No anticipatory bail to Byrathi Basavaraj: HC

BIKLA SHIVA MURDER CASE

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court on Tuesday refused to grant anticipatory bail to former minister and BJP MLA Byrathi Basavaraj aka BA Basavaraj in the Bikla Shiva murder case. Justice S Sunil Dutt Yadav said that there is a possibility of fair investigation being hampered if anticipatory bail is granted since the petitioner wields political power and the mother of the deceased stays in the same constituency. The court ruled that the interim anticipatory bail granted by the vacation bench on December 26, 2025, now stands discharged.

Additional State Public Prosecutor BN Jagadeesha said the petitioner wields influence over the police and it is on such a premise that the investigation was withdrawn from the state police and transferred to the CID. He contended that custodial interrogation is required to confront the accused with certain material gathered through investigation as he is not cooperating.

The materials consist of call detail records, reports of inquiry on the complaint and a photograph of Basavaraj along with the accused, Jagadish aka Jagga. Basavaraj has feigned ignorance over Jagga, though photographs and call detail records show that the petitioner is attempting to mislead the investigation, he argued. The counsel representing Basavaraj contended that the petitioner belongs to the opposition party and there is political malice in initiating prosecution against him.The petitioner has cooperated and appeared for two dates for interrogation, and there is no warrant for custodial interrogation. He said the court has the power to give limited custody and the petitioner is willing to undergo interrogation as may be ordered without necessarily relegating the petitioner to custodial interrogation, he argued.

The court stated that custodial interrogation is qualitatively different from interrogation of an accused who has had the benefit of an order of anticipatory bail.

Masseur who harassed Canadian woman arrested

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Vidhana Soudha police arrested a 32-year-old massage therapist on charges of behaving inappropriately with a 44-year-old Canadian national, said to be a delegate from the Canadian government who was in the city to attend a conference.

The woman had filed a complaint at the Vidhana Soudha police station, accusing the therapist at a luxury hotel in the Central Business District (CBD) of behaving inappropriately with her when she had gone for a professional massage. The incident came to light after one Surya Pratap Rana posted about the woman's ordeal on X.

The woman alleged that during the session, the therapist behaved inappropriately, crossed professional boundaries, and at one point left her exposed and unclothed with the door open, causing extreme distress. When she confronted him, she was threatened into silence. Shaken and shocked, she sought help.

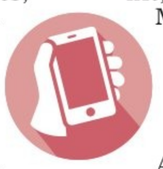
An officer, who is part of the investigation, said the hotel has refunded Rs 7,000 to the victim, but she claims she paid Rs 10,000 for the massage.

High-tech cheating in Army Group C exam at Halasuru, 18 arrested

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Halasuru police arrested 18 candidates for alleged malpractice in an Army recruitment examination using electronic gadgets on Sunday at the 515 Army Base Workshop in Halasuru.

According to a complaint filed by SS Jyotirlingam, Colonel and Security Officer for the Commandant and Managing Director of the 515 Army Base Workshop, a direct recruitment written examination (2025–26) for Group 'C' posts of Lower Division Clerk (LDC) under Civil Defence Employment Recruitment was conducted at the workshop on February 8 between 10 am and 12 noon. During the examination, officials caught 18 candidates cheating with the intention of securing government jobs by using electronic devices, that were recovered from the candidates.



The invigilators noticed a few candidates whispering during the test and conducted checks. The accused candidates allegedly took photographs of the question paper as soon as they received it and sent it to people outside the examination centre on WhatsApp. The answers were dictated through Bluetooth devices during the exam.

The accused identified as Surender, Sandeep, Monty, Anuj, Ajay Kumar, Sumit, Rahul, Aman, Ankit, Vikas, Yogesh, Aman Redu, Rajat, Ankit, Vinay, Aman Kumar, Manish and Prashant, are all natives of Haryana. Gadgets were found in bags kept outside the examination hall belonging to Aman and Rajat. The police have seized three mobile phones, 12 Bluetooth devices, and several other electronic items from the accused. All the 18 accused were arrested and remanded in judicial custody.

HM: Motive for techie's murder not yet known

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

HOME Minister Dr G Parameshwara on Tuesday said the motive behind the murder of 37-year-old software engineer Chandan Kumar, a native of Nelamangala near Bengaluru who was shot dead in Toronto, Canada, on Saturday, is not yet known. He said the Canadian police are probing the case.

The minister was speaking to reporters after meeting Chandan's bereaved parents and family at Thayalgoundanahalli in Nelamangala taluk. Chandan was working as a project director in Toronto and was known among the Kannada community there for his professional achievements and helpful nature.

"He was killed, and the police are probing the matter. I have spoken to his friends in Canada. The investigation will reveal the exact reasons and facts behind the incident," Parameshwara said.

He added that Chandan's body has been embalmed and will be kept to enable friends and members of the Kannada community in Canada to pay their respects on Wednesday. Tentatively, the body is expected to arrive in Bengaluru on Saturday.

"After the body arrives at the airport, the government will extend all possible help to the family. The Deputy Commissioner and the Superintendent of Police will coordinate the necessary arrangements here," he said, reiterating that there is no information yet on the motive behind the killing.

"I express my condolences and pray for his soul. He was the only son of his parents. I am deeply saddened by this incident and pray that his family is able to cope with this tragedy," he added. Union Minister for Heavy Industries and Steel HD Kumaraswamy also spoke to Chandan's father, Nandan Kumar, over the phone and condoled the death of his son.

PARAMOUR CAN'T BE TRIED FOR DOMESTIC VIOLENCE: HC

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

A paramour cannot be drawn into the web of proceedings for the offences punishable under Section 498A (cruelty by a husband or his relatives) of the IPC, which is essentially attracted for a dispute between the family members, said the Karnataka High Court.

Justice M Nagaprasanna passed the order, quashing the proceedings initiated under Section 498A against a woman-petitioner, who is the paramour of the husband of the complainant, and other charges before a trial court in Mysuru.

"A stranger, a neighbour or a paramour cannot be drawn into the web of crime for offences punishable under Section 498A of the IPC. The Apex Court in the case of Dechamma IM v/s State of Karnataka, observed that a woman with whom a man has romantic relations outside of marriage would not be a "relative of the husband" under Section 498A of the IPC," the court said.

The court stated that none of the ingredients of Sections 503 (criminal intimidation), 504 (intentional insult) and 506 (punishment for criminal intimidation) of the IPC are found either in the complaint or in the charge sheet. What remains is the offence under Section 323 (voluntarily causing hurt) of the IPC for which there is no wound certificate, which could indicate that the petitioner had assaulted the complainant, said the court, quashing the proceedings against the petitioner. The counsel for the petitioner argued that the petitioner, who is accused No.5 in the First Information Report registered based on the complaint filed by the wife of the husband with whom the petitioner has a relationship, cannot be drawn into the proceedings under Section 498A or any other offence.

The petitioner moved the HC, questioning the proceedings initiated against her under Sections 498A, 323, 504, 506 of the IPC and Sections 3, 4 and 6 of the Dowry Prohibition Act, by the wife as she has allegedly had a relationship with her husband, who is accused No.1.

In the complaint, the narration against the petitioner was that her husband had an illicit relationship with the petitioner even before the marriage, and it continued even after the marriage with the complainant. The husband and in-laws demanded dowry even after marriage, and the husband, for the sake of the petitioner, abused the complainant physically and mentally.

BUSINESS FORUM SUMMIT

ISRO chief calls Indo-US space ties human-centric

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

INDIAN Space Research Organisation (ISRO) chairman V Narayanan, speaking as the chief guest at the inaugural session of US-India Space Business Forum on Tuesday, said, "The collaboration between India and the United States of America (USA) in space research began in 1962, 15 years after India's independence. It began not to compete with anybody, but to bring the benefits of space technology to the common man in India".

Organised by the US Consulate General Chennai, and the US–India Strategic Partnership Forum (USISPF), the event brought together stakeholders in space operations from USA and India to embolden the commercial ties between the two nations in the field of space research.

Narayanan said, "It is a human-centric, application-oriented enterprise. We strongly believe that space is for the global community; it belongs to all. The benefits should be enjoyed by all." He also said that the union government's first thought about international collaboration in space technologies was not necessarily cultivating space-based businesses, but making space accessible.

Narayanan charted the history of India's ventures into space, saying that in the 64 years of the country's astronomical aspirations, 433 satellites, including those funded by other nations, were sent into the orbit from the country. He also revealed the country's plan to develop a satellite to study climate and weather patterns of countries that are part of the G20 alliance. "Indian industries are building a lot of hardware, including rocket parts and satellite parts. From a handful of space-research startups, we have 330 startup companies today that ISRO is supporting," he added.

Associate administrator at National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) Joel Graham virtually participated through a video message.

"I want to express NASA's strong support to the forum. Many of the US companies here are NASA's trusted partners and contractors, and I am pleased that my Indian colleagues will have an opportunity to learn about your work, and vice-versa. I also thank the Indian space leaders who are engaging with these companies; we have much to learn from one another," he said.

End hate crimes against minorities, Muslim leaders urge Union govt

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

IN the backdrop of increasing hate crimes against minorities, a group of muslim leaders and intellectuals met Union Minister for Steel and Heavy Industries HD Kumaraswamy and appraised him of the increasing incidents of hate crimes against minorities.

Former home minister R Roshan Baig, who was part of the delegation, told TNIE, "We would like the (Union) government to take some tangible action against the perpetrators (of hate crimes) and those who encourage this. They need to be dealt with as per law."

On Monday, the same delegation met Defence Minister Rajnath Singh at his official residence. Baig's post on X about the meeting read: "Met Defence Minister @ Rajnathsingh ji today as part of a delegation to express deep concern over disturbing reports of harassment faced by minorities in various parts of the country, and the irresponsible statements by certain political figures that are vitiating the communal atmosphere. The meeting was held under the aegis of Indian Muslims for Progress and Reform, Delhi, led by MJ Khan, to share our concerns and seek meaningful, institutional engagement with the Government in the larger interest of social harmony and national unity."

When asked if he was concerned about the safety of minorities in Karnataka, he said, "No, not Karnataka. In Karnataka there is no problem. But in many parts of the country the scenario is disturbing for muslims and minorities. We are urging those concerned to rein in such elements."

The delegation included former judges, defence experts, senior journalists, intellectuals and civil society leaders.

KSDL ropes in actor Tamannaah to promote revamped product line

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

KARNATAKA Soaps and Detergents Limited (KSDL) on Tuesday launched a revamped range of its products, including Mysuru Sandal Soap, and appointed actor Tamannaah Bhatia as its brand ambassador. The organisation unveiled 57 products with redesigned packaging as part of its efforts to expand its market presence and diversify beyond its traditional offerings.

Actor Tamannaah Bhatia with Large and Medium Scale Industries Minister MB Patil, Karnataka Soaps and Detergents Ltd Chairman Appaji CS Nadagouda and others at a product launch in Bengaluru on Tuesday | VINOD KUMAR T

The refreshed product line includes sandalwood oil, jasmine-scented soaps, perfumes, toothpaste, coconut oil, petroleum jelly and organic products, taking KSDL's total portfolio to nearly 60 items. Advertisements featuring Tamannaah were also released on the occasion.

At the event, Minister for Large and Medium Industries MB Patil said KSDL has diversified into premium and fragrance-based products, including jasmine soap and perfumery items. He said jasmine oil, which costs over Rs 4 lakh per litre, is being used for high-end products priced at Rs 400, and that there is growing demand for jasmine-based products in European markets. Patil added that officials have visited Coimbatore and Kannauj to establish partnerships for the perfumery segment. He noted that exports currently account for around one per cent of KSDL's total sales, and a roadmap has been prepared to increase export share in the coming years.

KSDL Chairman CS Appaji Nadagouda said the company expects its turnover to reach Rs 2,000 crore this year, with profits projected to cross Rs 500 crore. He said modern marketing strategies are being adopted to support growth, including the appointment of a national-level brand ambassador.

Tamannaah said Mysuru Sandal Soap is closely associated with her childhood memories and trust.

Seer moots Kanya Bhagya to help farmers find brides

GADAG: Siddanakolla Shivakumar Swamy, a religious leader associated with the Siddanakolla Mutt in Bagalkot, on Tuesday urged the Siddharamaiah government to launch a scheme titled Kanya Bhagya, in which the state would offer Rs 2 lakh as incentive to parents who offer their daughters in marriage to sons of farmers. Many villages in Gadag district are turning into "bachelor villages" as the parents of many would-be brides are not willing to offer their daughters in marriage to men who have opted for farming as their occupation, he said. ENS

CPI(M), CMO agents in probe team: Satheesan

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Wayanad

CONGRESS leader V D Satheesan on Tuesday alleged that there were "agents" of the CPI(M) in the SIT probing the Sabarimala gold loss cases and they were "selectively leaking news" to the media about the probe.

Satheesan said that when former Devaswom Minister Kadakampally Surendren was questioned in connection with the two cases, no one came to know about it till after 3-4 days. However, when UDF convener Adoor Prakash was questioned, it was leaked to the media even before he reached the office of the Special Investigation Team (SIT), the Leader of Opposition in the Assembly said.

"So, there are agents of the CPI(M), of the government, from the Chief Minister's Office in the SIT who are leaking news selectively," he alleged at a press briefing here.

The SIT is probing the cases related to the alleged misappropriation of gold from the Dwarapalaka (guardian deity) idols and the door frames of the Sreekovil (sanctum sanctorum) of the temple.

Regarding the Kerala High Court order directing a vigilance probe into the alleged misappropriation of gold and money in connection with the installation of a new temple flag mast at the Sabarimala shrine in 2017, Satheesan said the party welcomes the investigation.

TEAM FORMED TO PROBE FLAG MAST ROW

Vigilance and Anti-Corruption Bureau (VACB) has constituted a four-member team to probe the alleged misappropriation of gold and money related to the installation of a new temple flag mast at the Sabarimala shrine in 2017, sources said. The team, formed on the orders of the Kerala High Court, will operate under the supervision of the southern range SP, the sources added. However, Congress leader and former TDB member Ajay Tharayil on Tuesday said there was no discrepancy in the accounting of gold received from devotees in connection with the installation of a new flag mast at the Sabarimala shrine in 2017. He said the work of the new flag mast was carried out in accordance with the directions of the High Court and all the accounts in this regard had been submitted before the court. ENS

ED to question Jayaram

The ED is likely to question actor Jayaram next week as part of its ongoing probe into the Sabarimala gold scam, with officials closely tracking the alleged money trail linked to the case, a source said.

The development comes days after the ED questioned former Sabarimala administrative officer Murari Babu and another former official S Sreekumar. The source said the agency is assessing whether the accused persons made illegal monetary gains through the diversion and misuse of gold-linked rituals connected to the shrine.

Following Jayaram's questioning, Unnikrishnan Potti is likely to be called, source said.

Andhra Pradesh Chief Minister N Chandrababu Naidu greets Union Home Minister Amit Shah during a meeting in New Delhi on Tuesday | PTI

Grant legal sanctity to Amaravati as AP capital: CM to Centre

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Vijayawada

CHIEF Minister N Chandrababu Naidu has urged Union Home Minister Amit Shah to pass a bill in the current Budget Session of Parliament, granting legal sanctity to Amaravati as the capital city of Andhra Pradesh. Naidu submitted a representation to Amit Shah, seeking the support of the Centre to AP on various issues.

As part of his visit to New Delhi on Tuesday, Naidu held a series of meetings with seven Union Ministers. During his meeting with Union Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman, he sought funds under the Purvodaya Scheme for developing Rayalaseema as a horticulture hub, and release of funds for various Centrally Sponsored Schemes. In his meeting with Union Agriculture Minister Shivraj Singh Chouhan, he requested the Centre to establish a Makhana Development Board in Andhra Pradesh. The State has a potential to cultivate makhana in over 50,000 acres in Kolleru region, he said.

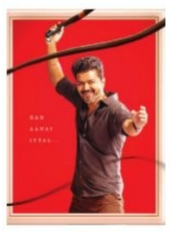
Naidu sought the release of funds under the PM-PRANAM to expand community-based natural farming in AP. He asked for Rs 216 crore incentive for AP under the scheme as the State reduced the usage of chemical fertilisers in the previous year. An assistance of Rs 200 crore for cultivation of coconut in the State was also sought. He requested the Centre's support for setting up a coconut processing park and modern tender coconut markets on the lines of Karnataka, providing training to coconut farmers. He submitted a memorandum seeking the release of pending Rs 695 crore the One Drop More Crop Scheme. He also sought the release of Rs 100 crore as the Centre's share under the Price Deficiency Payment System for Totapuri mango farmers for the 2025-26 season. Naidu urged Union Jal Shakti Minister CR Patil to provide funds for further land acquisition and rehabilitation under Phase-II of the Polavaram project, stating that Rs 32,000 crore will be required.

He appealed to Union Railway Minister Ashwini Vaishnaw to develop dedicated freight corridors connecting North and South India. He sought support for establishing a dedicated freight corridor between Itarsi and Vijayawada, and proposed the East Coast Freight Corridor between Kharagpur and Chennai via Vijayawada, connecting major ports.

'Jana Nayagan' makers withdraw plea from HC

AGENCIES @Chennai

THE Madras High Court on Tuesday permitted the producers of Tamil film 'Jana Nayagan', starring actor-turned-politician Vijay, to withdraw their petition, which sought a direction to the CBFC to grant a censor certificate to the film.



Justice P T Asha, before whom the petition came up for hearing, granted permission to M/s KVN Productions LLP, producers of the movie, to withdraw the petition. The judge dismissed the petition as "withdrawn".

The judge on January 9 allowed the petition filed by M/s KVN Productions LLP and gave a direction to the Central Board of Film Certification (CBFC) to grant a censor certificate forthwith. The judge had also quashed a communication dated January 5 of the Regional Officer, informing the producers of the film that based on a complaint, the Chairperson of the Censor Board had referred the matter to the revising committee.

However, on the same day, the First Bench comprising Chief Justice MM Shrivastava and Justice G Arul Murugan stayed her order on an appeal filed by CBFC. After hearing elaborate arguments from both sides, the bench on January 20 reserved orders on the appeal.

Allowing the appeal, the bench on January 27, set aside the order of a single judge, which directed the CBFC to grant forthwith the censor certificate to the film.

ODISHA: OHRC SUSPENDS VILLAGE RELOCATION IN SATKOSIA TIGER RESERVE

Bhubaneswar: In a major setback to the state government's ongoing village relocation in Satkosia Tiger Reserve, the Odisha Human Rights Commission (OHRC) has ordered suspension of the programme on grounds of procedural lapses and rights violation. The Commission has asked the government to form a high-level committee within four weeks to probe the matter along with identification of officers responsible for the lapses. It has recommended departmental and criminal action wherever warranted.In its February 9 order, OHRC observed that relocation from a core or critical tiger habitat is governed by Section 38V of the Wildlife (Protection) Act, 1972 and the guidelines issued by the National Tiger Conservation Authority (NTCA). "Such relocation requires strict legal compliance, including habitat assessment, recognition and settlement of individual and community forest rights under the Forest Rights Act (FRA), 2006 and informed consent of the gram sabha and that it must be genuinely voluntary and based on a mutually agreed rehabilitation package," it underlined. ENS

Odisha anganwadi shut 3 months after Dalit cook hired

ASHIS SENAPATI @ Kendrapara

CASTE PREJUDICE

EXPOSING the deep-rooted caste prejudice still prevailing in the society, residents of a village in Kendrapara district's Rajnagar block have allegedly stopped sending their children to the local anganwadi centre after the appointment of a Dalit woman as a helper-cum-cook nearly three months ago.

The centre at Nuagaon village under Ghadiamala gram panchayat has reportedly not been functioning since 23-year-old Sarmista Sethi was appointed as an anganwadi helper-cum-cook on November 24 last year. Soon after her appointment, the village committee allegedly decided to boycott the centre in protest and stopped sending their kids to the anganwadi centre. Even pregnant and lactating women have refused to visit the centre since then.

Sethi alleged that she faced resistance from the villagers who said their children would not eat the food prepared by her. The village committee head also reportedly instructed families, including seven Dalit households of Nuagaon, not to send their wards to the centre. Around 45 families, including the seven Dalit households, reside in the village. "Some upper-caste villagers warned me not to cook for the children. When I refused, they stopped sending their kids. Even women stopped coming to the centre," she alleged.

Kendrapara collector Raghuram R Iyer said he has directed the district social welfare officer to submit a detailed report on the matter. "After receiving the report, appropriate action will be taken against those who are illegally preventing children and women from attending the anganwadi centre. We are also trying to resolve the issue amicably through discussions with villagers," he said.

On Tuesday, a team of Dalit leaders visited Nuagaon village and demanded legal action against those preventing children and women from attending the centre. He cited a 2004 Supreme Court interim order which states that SC/ST cooks should be given priority in midday meal schemes.

NDA will form govt in TN with 200 seats, says Anbumani

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Chennai

ASSERTING that the AIADMK-led NDA would form the next government in Tamil Nadu, PMK president Anbumani Ramadoss on Tuesday said the political climate in the state was clearly in favour of the opposition alliance. Addressing the general council meeting of the PMK youth wing in Chennai, he said the NDA will win at least 200 seats in the forthcoming Assembly election. Eight resolutions were adopted at the meeting which began with Anbumani administering a pledge to the participants.

Addressing the gathering, Anbumani said the DMK should not be allowed to return to power and claimed he had undertaken an extensive statewide campaign to expose what 'failures' and misrule' of the DMK government. He alleged that the DMK was approaching the election by relying solely on money power and said history has shown that political change was often driven by youth-led movements.

BJP candidate ends life, party targets Cong

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Hyderabad

ERUKALA Mahadevappa, a BJP candidate for Ward VI in Makthal municipality of Narayanpet district, died by suicide on Tuesday morning, with the party alleging that he was under pressure from his political opponent to withdraw from the municipal elections.

The death triggered a political row, with the BJP holding the Congress responsible and raising the issue in Parliament. Director General of Police B Shivadhar Reddy said he had not yet received full details of the incident and that no suicide note had been found. He told reporters that the matter was under examination.

Following the incident, the State Election Commission countermanded the election in the ward and said a fresh date would be announced later. Meanwhile, Telangana BJP president N Ramchander Rao alleged that Mahadevappa was subjected to harassment and intimidation by leaders of the ruling Congress in Narayanpet district, leading to his death. Ramchander Rao, along with Mahbubnagar MP DK Aruna, visited Makthal to meet the bereaved family.

Laddu row: Naidu asked to take action

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Tirumala

TIRUMALA Jeeyars, who follow the 1,026-year-old Ramanuja tradition, wrote to Chief Minister Nara Chandrababu Naidu expressing concern over the alleged adulteration of ghee used in temple offerings and urging him to take stringent action. They also sent copies of the letter on Tuesday to TTD Executive Officer (EO) M Ravi and Additional Executive Officer Venkaiah Choudary.

"Laddu and annaprasadams offered daily to the Lord are not merely food offerings. They stand as a legitimate mark of faith, devotion, trust and conviction of followers of Sanatana Dharma and others. The tradition has continued uninterrupted for centuries," Sadagopa Ramanuja Pedda Jeeyar said in the letter.

"We felt deep sorrow after learning that ghee used in the preparation of laddu and annaprasadams was found adulterated, as announced by the CBI," he stated.

The letter said, "Knowing about the adulteration of ghee and still using it for preparation is a big sin. It is against Dharma and reflects highly irresponsible conduct." The Jeeyars said the issue deeply hurt the sentiments of devotees and disciples of Lord Venkateswara.

They urged the Chief Minister, describing him as an ardent devotee, to take stringent steps and establish a system to prevent such incidents in future. They also prayed for strength and inspiration to safeguard temple traditions and culture.

₹420 per sandalwood tree not enough, claims farmer

THE incident took place near the West Gate of Vidhana Soudha around 12.30 pm on Wednesday. Kumar entered the premises and chopped two branches of a sandalwood tree in front of Shakti Soudha with a machete he was carrying, to express his anger against the government.

Police said the farmer has a dispute with the National Highways Authority of India and forest officials over land acquisition. He said he was frustrated as the government had failed to pay fair compensation for the trees that were felled.

For the Tumakuru–Shivamogga National Highway project, the government had acquired farmland in the region. As part of this, land belonging to Vishu Kumar was also acquired. Around 3,000 sandalwood trees standing within a 300-metre stretch of the acquired land were cut down by the government. The compensation was fixed at Rs 420 per sandalwood tree, which Kumar claimed was inadequate. He, along with other farmers, had approached the court seeking justice. However, officials allegedly cut down the sandalwood trees even before the court passed an order.

TN electronics exports may touch $18 bn, up 22.8%

PON VASANTH B A, C SHIVAKUMAR @ CHENNAI

INDUSTRIES Minister TRB Rajaa on Tuesday said that the export of electronic goods from Tamil Nadu in the ongoing financial year (2025-26) could at least touch the $18 billion mark, if not cross it. This would be a 22.8% growth from the $14.65 billion recorded by TN in in 2024-25. The state has seen a nine-fold growth in the export of electronic goods since 2021-22 when the value was $1.65 billion.

Addressing the two-day 15th edition of Source India – Electronics Supply Chain organised by the Electronic Industries Association of India, the minister pointed out that the union government has not released the latest export figures yet.

However data available till November 2025, on the portals of Ministry of Commerce and Industry, and accessed by TNIE, showed that the minister's prediction of the state touching $18 billion may not only be realised but even surpassed.

According to the data, the value of electronic goods exported from across the country between April 2025 and November 2025 (eight months) stood at $31.1 billion, compared to $22.5 billion in the same period in 2024. This was a growth of 37.9%. In comparison, Tamil Nadu exported electronic goods worth $11.98 billion in the eight months between April and November 2025, which is a 53% growth compared to the $7.8 billion-worth goods it exported in the same period in 2024.

In the four months of December 2024 to March 2025, TN exported $6.8 billion-worth electronic goods, which is nearly 90% of what it exported in the prior eight months. In comparison, in the current financial year, the state will have to only achieve 50% of what it exported between April and November 2025 in the last four months of the 2025-26 to cross the $18 billion mark.

Rajaa, speaking at the event, said the state accounted for 31% of India's electronics production and 41% of the country's electronics exports. "Everything TN does is for India," he said, adding that the state was steadily moving up the value chain.

TAKAICHI'S LANDSLIDE WIN IN TOKYO CAN OPEN NEW DOORS FOR NEW DELHI

SANAE Takaichi's landslide victory in Japan is a moment of rare political clarity in an age of drift. It is the sound of glass ceilings cracking in Tokyo and of a restless electorate choosing momentum over stagnation. In a system famous for caution and consensus, Japan has delivered an emphatic verdict. As the country's first woman prime minister, Takaichi's ascent is historic in a country where power has long been monopolised by men and rigid hierarchies. But this was not a victory of symbolism alone. It was earned. Voters responded to her relentless work ethic, modern political instincts and a charisma absent in Japanese politics since Shinzo Abe. Her ease with social media, unscripted public moments and visible energy is reminiscent of a leader comfortable in the present, not trapped by precedent. That confidence mattered in a nation battered by economic stagnation, demographic decline and harsher conflicts. Takaichi inherits a Japan confronting rising costs of living, a weak yen and an increasingly volatile security environment. Her mandate reflects a public desire for decisiveness after years of revolving-door prime ministers.

Her victory breathes new life into Abe's unfinished legacy. He was the architect of Japan's strategic awakening and sought autonomy in response to China's assertiveness, North Korea's missiles and the erosion of a rules-based order. His successors advanced that vision unevenly. Takaichi now has both the ideological commitment and the political capital to consolidate it. Crucially, this has profound implications for India-Japan ties. Despite warm relations, cooperation has plateaued on infrastructure finance and development assistance, and it's thin on strategic collaboration.

Modern defence and security partnerships are about co-development, co-production and co-export across dual-use technologies, domain awareness, grey-zone capabilities and advanced manufacturing. Japan's new posture creates unprecedented space for India to move from a strategic partner in name to one in capability. Takaichi's landslide also signals public support for pragmatic innovation over constitutional paralysis, strengthening security without detonating domestic consensus. For New Delhi, this opens doors across the defence ecosystem, from high-end radars to industrial supply chains.

Two tests remain. Can Takaichi match her security resolve with economic renewal? And can she survive Japan's notoriously unstable prime ministerial tenures? If she does, this election will be remembered not just as a personal triumph, but as the moment Abe's vision found its most transformative heir.

ODISHA ELEPHANT BURIAL POINTS TO SYSTEMIC ROT

HISTORY does repeat itself, and often not in a good way. The death of an elephant in Odisha's Kandhamal district offers a recent example. Apparently poached, the jumbo's carcass was chopped into 32 pieces, transported and buried in different places. All this was carried out by a deputy range officer. The case, which happened through January, came to light after the media picked up the trail and the forest department was forced to investigate. Its magnitude can be gauged from the astonishingly brazen act of suppression by the department officials.

The elephant died in Baliguda forest at the beginning of January. Over the next two weeks, the carcass was buried in the forest of a neighbouring division. With pressure mounting, the government suspended the deputy ranger who had given the chopping order, and arranged transportation to a separate place for burial without raising any suspicion. Incidentally, the same division had reported another elephant death about a month earlier. The government's face-saving reaction was to suspend the ranger and an assistant conservator of forest for the mess.

This is not happening for the first time. Odisha has a history of suppressing elephant deaths. In 2021, officials of Athagarh forest division found tusks of a dead elephant stowed in a range office for over a year without being reported and accounted for. The next year, about half a dozen carcasses were found buried in different parts of the same forest, which led to the formation of a joint task force. The same year, the carcass of another elephant was torched and attempts were made to dump the remnants in a river in Similipal Tiger Reserve. Back in 2010, a spate of elephant deaths had been suppressed in the tiger habitat.

The latest case lends credence to the persistent claims of serious gaps in the forest department's surveillance and administration. That's primarily because in all these cases, lower-ranked officials have faced the music while senior officers have escaped scrutiny. The Kandhamal incident is a glaring example of the systemic rot and heads should have rolled. But the government seems happy with a knee-jerk reaction. Odisha is a prime elephant habitat of eastern India, but is often in the news for high mortalities. Righting the wrong is necessary and hiding would not help. Accountability must start at the top.

QUICK TAKE

ICONS FOR FUTURE SCIENTISTS

WOMEN'S work often gets obscured by omission—and science is one such fallow field. Today, the International Day of Women and Girls in Science, presents the most fitting occasion for schools to reverse this trend. Though many may know about Marie Curie's Nobel in physics or even poet Byron's daughter Ada Lovelace's recognition as one of the earliest computer programmers, few Indian students know of Indian women scientists. It's not for a dearth in their achievements. Whether it is chemist Asima Chatterjee's seminal contribution in developing anti-epileptic drugs, botanist Janaki Ammal's work on plant breeding, or biochemist Kamala Sohonie's contribution towards understanding nutrition needs of the poorest Indians, there is a wealth of icons to choose from. Such knowledge might just set off a spark that lights India's scientific journey ahead.

As tech again cleaves the world into leaders and laggards, India needs a purpose statement on artificial intelligence, not just a mission. It's a bus we can't afford to miss

DREAM BIGGER AND ACT FASTER ON AI TO SECURE FUTURE

HARISH BIJOOR
Brand guru & founder of Harish Bijoor Consults Inc

SOURAV ROY

THE buzz of artificial intelligence is in every ear. A loud and scary buzz even. If you are not into AI, you are going to be living in a different world altogether. A future dominated by those with AI. A world divided into two. Those with it and those without. The future gets cleaved once again into the haves and the have-nots.

What began as a tentative talk in business newspapers a decade ago is a reality today. AI is bringing in efficiencies unimagined. A task that took, say, 4 hours to complete gets done in a few minutes. AI tools are helping everything we do today, from the homework of a Class 3 student to a high-level presentation on the economy made to the prime minister. AI is already in our midst on our smartphones and will shortly be in us as AI-embedded beings letting the machine do the thinking for us. The future is a buzz that has begun.

As this buzz gets louder, it's time for the world of technology to wake up and prepare for the needs of the divided world ahead. Countries such as India need to be more careful about this divide than many others.

Is it really a threat? Depends what you make of it. Depends also on whether you are on that side of technology where all this is happening, or on the other side of the fence where all this sounds like science fiction. The divide, deepening by the day, is represented by technology at one end and religion at the other. These two strange buddies are dividing the world by the minute.

Let me talk technology this time around.

The year gone by saw the world of tech getting divided into a US cluster and a China cluster. There are two mindsets and two capitals of the tech world today. The rest of the world seems to be a wannabe world, wanting to snuggle into either of the two clusters. Most developers, startup evangelists, thinkers, ideators and patent creators seem rather comfortable to cater to the needs, wants, desires, aspirations and even fantasies of these two cluster capitals. There is a ChatGPT world at one end and a DeepSeek world at the other.

Year 2025 was certainly the year of AI across the developing and developer worlds. Nvidia hit a $5-trillion valuation and catapulted AI as the hottest future property. This made everyone in the space of AI chips and data centre infrastructure to salivate with glee. In more ways than one, this singular event made a whole generation of youngsters across the world want a piece of the AI pie. Never mind if you do not belong by geography to the two clusters. You can aspire to be a part of either—working from home, wherever home is. A host of piecemeal developers are emerging from every nook and corner of every country.

Most of this is happening at the top of the tech developers' pyramid. I see it happening in Luanda and Lusaka, just as I see it happening at the bleeding-edge work out of Bengaluru, Pune, Gurugram and Bhubaneswar. Everyone, everywhere is contributing a bit to build the whole. The whole will belong to one of the two cluster capitals though—the US or China.

Where does India stand in it all? Does it have a place at the table already neatly set for two? Please remember Canadian Prime Minister Mark Carney's recent quote at Davos, "If you are not at the table, you are on the menu." India needs to aspire, plan for and ensure a place for itself in the noisy space of AI. We need to have our plans in place with a clear strategy of what we stand for. We need to establish a high ground for ourselves that defines a playing turf.

I am no Cassandra. But let me warn ourselves that it might be important for the world of Indian tech to be a bigger part of the whole. It just might be important to own more of AI and its myriad properties. More than we do today. As of today, amid the hype of generative AI, we need to ensure it does not deteriorate into what I christen as 'de-generative AI'. India needs to establish its claim to be a player and participant of significance. A player branded to be at the frontlines instead of being an 'India inside' kind of participant.

There is an Indian-sounding name in almost every effort of the two AI clusters, more in one and less in the other. This is not enough. A whole host of 'frontrunners' in the world of AI (located both in India and across the US or China) are extrinsically focused. Reminds me of the way the early Indian business process outsourcing and IT services industries went. We catered to the needs of the Western world. We built deep businesses with a focus on the outside world, rather than on the inside—India. This is repeating today in the world of AI.

There is a privileged AI society emerging in India. We work out of Bhopal, Mysuru and Visakhapatnam. However, our business focus and consumption markets are extrinsic. We are excited that our patents are growing, our tech manpower is growing and, importantly, our valuations are skyrocketing. We are a privileged set that works on technologies that feed the larger world of AI. Our focus remains limited by the capabilities we have built to cater to the AI-consuming world. The demand is huge and we are barely able to cater to it.

I believe we need to understand deeply that there is more to AI than the mere algorithm (sorry for that insult, dear algo) and training technology interventions. Our thinking needs towards industrialisation as well. Physical infrastructure needs our attention, if not action. The $1-trillion AI and robotics complex in Arizona is the kind of action that signals the way countries are going to ensure AI-security for themselves. The race here is for energy access, computing capacity and the sheer manufacturing prowess the two cluster capitals are investing deeply in.

In India, it is the private sector that is focusing on the space. The sector's brute energy has been witnessed in the past in the realms of ITES, biotech and IT. If the hunger in its belly can redefine our focus, India stands a good chance to grab some of the sunlight out there. In all this AI-build, there is short-termism in our midst. We have a yen to do a small thing, get a valuation, monetise it, get out and do the next small thing. We need to yank ourselves out of that mindset and act fast.

Within the context of AI industrialisation in India, our goals can be really big. How do we manage a complex democracy like ours? How do we manage poverty, hunger, illiteracy, health? And much more. AI in India needs a purpose statement. Not a target. Not a vision. Not a mission.

BOARD OF PEACE NOT FOR INDIA

E D MATHEW
Former UN spokesperson

INDIA has been invited to join the newly unveiled Board of Peace for Gaza, which Donald Trump launched with ceremonial flourish during the recent World Economic Forum in Davos. The offer may be framed as recognition of India's stature as the world's biggest democracy. However, it looks more like a test of New Delhi's strategic nerve and moral conviction.

Under the draft charter of the BoP, Trump would serve as its inaugural chairman with overriding veto power over its plans and actions. Asked whether the institution could replace the United Nations, he replied that it "might". A few hours later, however, he changed tack and said: "We'll do it in conjunction with the UN."

Several states have already agreed to join, including Israel, Saudi Arabia, Pakistan, Egypt and Hungary, a roster that reflects transactional calculation more than shared principles. Others, notably the UK, Canada, France, Sweden and Norway have declined. Vladimir Putin said he is consulting Moscow's strategic partners before taking a decision whether to join and China's decision is not yet known. No permanent member of the UN Security Council other than the US has yet committed to joining the BoP.

India's invitation appears carefully chosen as New Delhi's participation would lend a democratic fig leaf to an enterprise otherwise dominated by US allies and compliant partners. That calculation should set alarm bells ringing in New Delhi.

The invitation comes at a moment of profound global disarray. The "rupture" in the global order that Canadian Prime Minister Mark Carney captured with unusual clarity at Davos resonates uncomfortably with the logic underpinning Trump's new enterprise, touted as an 'international organisation'.

The BoP will sit above a 'founding executive board' that includes Trump's son-in-law Jared Kushner, US Secretary of State Marco Rubio, special envoy Steve Witkoff, and former British PM Tony Blair, who faces significant accusations for his role in the Iraq war.

Any serious peace mechanism for Gaza must rest on humanitarian law, accountability and multilateral consent. Trump's proposal offers none of these. Instead, it concentrates authority in the hands of a single leader whose record shows open contempt for international institutions.

Under the board's charter, decisions would reflect not negotiated norms but the chairman's discretion. The danger is obvious. What is presented as peace-making risks becoming a platform for unilateralism, shielded from scrutiny by the participation of hand-picked States.

India's participation would inevitably be read as endorsement, however carefully caveated in diplomatic language. Any such endorsement would come at a price. India's experience with Trump hardly suggests a relationship built on respect. He has derided India's economy as "dead" and allowed his senior aides to mock New Delhi's ties with Moscow by branding the country Russia's "launderette". These were part of a broader strategy of public belittlement designed to establish dominance.

AFP

> The selectively curated Board of Peace offers the optics of leadership without the discipline of international law. Under its charter, decisions would reflect the discretion of Donald Trump, who wields a veto over its plans. New Delhi's participation would lend it a democratic fig leaf

Against that backdrop, India is now invited to join a body chaired by the same leader endowed with veto power. The asymmetry is striking and silence becomes complicity.

Although emanating from UN Security Council Resolution 2803 of last November that authorised a BoP to oversee Gaza's post-war reconstruction, the new Trump-led venture would sit outside the UN framework, free from the constraints of international law. It would weaken, rather than reform, global governance by encouraging parallel structures answerable to power rather than principle. For India, which has long argued for democratising multilateralism, not dismantling it, participation would be a profound contradiction.

The major European countries who have refused to join appear to have grasped this. Their refusal is not anti-American posturing but institutional self-respect. It reflects an understanding, articulated by Carney, that middle powers negotiating bilaterally with a hegemon do so from weakness. The alternative is to combine.

The selective nature of the invitations exposes the board's real purpose. No country other than Morocco is invited from the entire African continent. South Africa's exclusion is conspicuous. Including Pakistan complicates India's strategic calculus while diluting its influence. India's presence would be used to confer legitimacy on decisions over which New Delhi would have little control.

The optics extend beyond diplomacy. In much of the Global South, India has cultivated an image as an independent actor, neither aligned nor acquiescent. That tradition was never about abstention but about agency, restraint and the belief that legitimacy matters even in a world of power politics. Joining Trump's Gaza board would erode that hard-earned capital.

The answer to a lawless world is neither submission nor isolation, but a third path rooted in consistency and collective action. India has options. It can work with like-minded States to strengthen humanitarian mechanisms for Gaza within international law. It can press for reform of the UN rather than acquiesce in its hollowing out. It can reduce vulnerability to coercion by diversifying partnerships while holding fast to principle.

Declining Trump's invitation would not be an act of hostility. It would signal that India will not lend its name to a project designed to entrench unilateral power at a moment when the world is searching for new forms of cooperation. The Gaza Board of Peace offers neither peace nor dignity to Gaza, nor credibility to those who join it. It is no place for India.

● Former Army Chief says no copies of the book have been published, distributed or sold ● Cong MP says Union ministers playing 'ping pong' when questions posed

Gen backs publisher, Rahul in spot

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

BREAKING his silence amid the political row over his 'unpublished' memoir, former army chief general M M Naravane on Tuesday shared a statement issued by the publisher of his book that says no copies of the book "in print or digital form have been published, distributed, sold" or otherwise made available to the public.

There has been a complete breakdown of ties between the government and the opposition ever since LoP Rahul Gandhi was stopped from quoting the book on India-China conflict during his speech on Motion of Thanks to the President's address on February 2.

The confrontation took a sharp turn on Tuesday after Rahul cited a December 2023 social media post by Naravane informing people that his book is "available now", seeking to rebut the publisher's statement that the 'memoir' has not yet been published. This was in counter to a statement issued by the publisher Penguin Random House India (PRHI) that "an announcement about a book or its availability for pre-order should not be interpreted as publication". Gandhi said he believes the word of the former army chief over Penguin.

Speaking with reporters, Gandhi read out Naravane's 2023 social media post on X, which said, "Hello friends. My book is available now. Just follow the link. Happy reading. Jai Hind."

"This is the tweet Naravane has made. The point I am making is either Naravane is lying, and I believe the former Army chief, I don't think he will lie, or Penguin is lying. Both cannot be telling the truth," he said.

"Penguin is saying the book is not published. The book is available on Amazon. Gen Naravane has tweeted, as I just read to you, that please buy my book. He tweeted this in 2023. Do you believe Penguin over Mr Naravane? I believe Mr Naravane," Gandhi said.

PRHI issued a clarification after Rahul Gandhi cited a 2023 social media post by Naravane informing people that the memoir in question, "Four Stars of Destiny", is "available now".

BJP WOMEN MPs SEEK ACTION ON OPPN MPs FOR FEB 4 MOVE

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

ELEVEN BJP women MPs on Tuesday wrote to Lok Sabha Speaker Om Birla seeking strict action against Opposition MPs for allegedly attempting to surround the Prime Minister's seat and coming closest to it.

The move comes a day after Congress women MPs wrote to the Speaker rejecting claims that their protest in the House posed a threat to Modi on February 4.

In their letter, the BJP MPs praised Birla for what they described as his wise handling of the situation. "We wish to express our profound gratitude and admiration for the exemplary manner in which you upheld and protected the dignity, decorum, and sanctity of the Lok Sabha during the discussion on the Motion of Thanks on the Honourable President's Address on February 4, 2026.

On that day, the entire House, and indeed the entire nation, witnessed one of the most unfortunate and regrettable incidents inside the Lok Sabha chamber," the letter read.

"On that day, the entire House, and indeed the whole nation, witnessed one of the most unfortunate and regrettable incidents within the Lok Sabha chamber. We saw that the members belonging to Opposition parties not just entered the well of the House but they also climbed on the table, tore papers and threw them towards the Chair," they wrote.

According to the letter, Opposition MPs also moved deep into the treasury benches where senior ministers were seated.

On Tuesday, the BJP shared a video clip on their X account showing some women Opposition MPs approaching the PM's seat in the Lok Sabha.

INCREASE MPLAD TO ₹25 CR: SAMAJWADI MP

Samajwadi Party MP Lalji Verma on Tuesday demanded a hike in the MP Local Area Development scheme fund to ₹25 crore per year. Participating in the general discussion on Union Budget in the Lok Sabha, Verma urged Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman to hike MPLAD to ₹25 crore from the current ₹5 crore per year, given infrastructure development demand in each constituency. The annual MPLAD has remained static at ₹5 crore since 2011-12.

In a written response to a query from six MPs seeking details on the checks on ramps, surveillance inspections and audits conducted by the DGCA last year, the Minister said it also conducted surveillance of 84 foreign aircraft.

'Trade deal pre-committed purchase pact': Tharoor leads Cong charge

Trade agreement 'one-sided', will hurt farming community, says Akhilesh

Echoing Tharoor's view, Samajwadi Party supremo Akhilesh Yadav dubbed the interim trade agreement with the United States as "one-sided" and alleged that it will hurt the farming community as agricultural imports will hit farming in India. Participating in the discussion in the Lok Sabha, he also said the agreement will damage the prospects of the industry and push back the 'Made in India' and 'self-reliant India' initiatives of the government.

Congress MP Shashi Tharoor during the Budget session of Parliament in New Delhi on Tuesday | PTI

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

SLAMMING the government on the India-US interim trade agreement, Congress MP Shashi Tharoor said on Tuesday that the arrangement looked more like a "pre-committed purchase agreement" that overturned every principle of reciprocity between the two countries. He added that Union ministers S Jaishankar and Piyush Goyal were playing "ping pong" when questions are posed to them about the deal.

Initiating debate in the Lok Sabha on the Union Budget, Tharoor said the government's claim that India secured a better deal than what China, Vietnam, or other Asian economies got did not withstand scrutiny. "While India may have obtained tariff reductions of one or two percentage points, no East Asian economy has agreed to deliberately dilute its trade surplus with the United States through guaranteed purchase commitments," he said.

The Thiruvananthapuram MP asked how one could speak of a "reciprocal tariff" of 18 per cent on one side and zero per cent on the other.

At a time when India's total bilateral trade with the US stands at roughly $130 billion and a trade surplus of nearly $45 billion, the government has surprisingly promised to buy $500 billion worth of American goods in five years, he said.

Tharoor argued in the House that this effectively converts a surplus into a long-term deficit by an executive assurance rather than through market demand. "No major economy has ever neutralised its own trade leverage in this manner. While the US continues to impose import tariffs of up to 18 per cent on Indian exports, we have committed ourselves to lower tariffs to near-zero levels, open agriculture, dilute data localisation, soften intellectual-property safeguards, and even redirect strategic energy imports, especially away from Russia, to meet purchase targets. This is not strategic balancing; it is economic pre-emption," the Congress MP said.

He said Parliament had neither been told how farmers, MSMEs, and the domestic industry would be protected nor why India "voluntarily surrendered" its negotiating power.

EC sets transfer policy for poll-bound states, home dist postings not allowed

MUKESH RANJAN @ New Delhi

AS part of preparatory steps for the upcoming Assembly elections, the Election Commission of India (ECI) has issued an advisory on the transfer and posting of officials involved in the poll process. The directive has been sent to Chief Electoral Officers and Chief Secretaries of Assam, Kerala, Tamil Nadu, West Bengal and the Union Territory of Puducherry, where Assembly terms end between May and June this year.

The Commission reiterated its long-standing policy that officers directly connected with elections should not serve in their home districts or remain posted for long tenures in the same district.

The EC said, "No officer directly associated with election duties will be permitted to continue in their current revenue district if it is their home district, or if they have completed three years of service in that district during the last four years." It added that this will also apply to officers completing three years on or before May 31 in Assam, Kerala, Tamil Nadu and West Bengal, and on or before June 30 in Puducherry.

To clarify the calculation of tenure, the Commission said that promotions to another post within the same district will be counted when computing the three-year period. But service at the state headquarters during the past four years may be excluded, even if the headquarters is located in the same revenue district.

The EC stated that transferred officers may be posted at the state headquarters, even if the headquarters falls within the same revenue district.

It also directed that key functionaries should not be repeated in the same areas. "No District Election Officer, Returning Officer, Assistant Returning Officer, or police personnel of the rank of inspector or above should be posted back to, or allowed to continue in, the Assembly constituency or district where they were deployed during the last Assembly election or any subsequent bye-election."

'Probe if cases of missing kids linked to organised networks'

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY @ New Delhi

Kidnapping & trafficking

Total number of un-recovered/untraced missing children stood at 47,313 in 2022

HIGHEST	LOWEST
West Bengal (6,994), Delhi (6,040), Bihar (6,781), Odisha (4,837), Madhya Pradesh (3,926), Maharashtra (2,592), Tamil Nadu (2,432), Uttar Pradesh (2,174), Punjab (2,171) and Haryana (1,804)	Mizoram (0), Lakshadweep (0), Ladakh (1), Sikkim (3), Puducherry (3), Nagaland (6), Arunachal Pradesh (7), Meghalaya (10), Andaman and Nicobar Islands (11)

THE Supreme Court on Tuesday asked the Centre to examine whether cases of missing children across India indicate a nationwide trafficking network or operations of state-specific groups. Hearing a PIL by NGO Guria Swayam Sevi Sansthan, the Bench noted an alarming rise in untraced children in several states and said the issue demanded close scrutiny.

The petition highlighted unresolved cases of kidnapping and trafficking, including five cases registered in Uttar Pradesh last year. In those cases, minor boys and girls were allegedly abducted and moved through an organised chain of intermediaries to Jharkhand, Madhya Pradesh and Rajasthan. The plea said, "This is a very serious issue and needs to be probed thoroughly."

A two-judge Bench of Justice B V Nagarathna and Justice Ujjal Bhuyan directed the Centre to collect comprehensive data from all states and Union Territories. The court said the information was necessary to determine the reasons behind the disappearances. "We want to know (from the Centre) whether there is a nationwide network or a state-specific group behind these incidents where children go missing. Is it a pattern or just random incidents?" the Bench observed.

The hearing took on added significance in light of recent Delhi Police figures. Data showed that in the first 27 days of 2026, 807 people were reported missing. Of them, 235 were traced, while 572 remained untraced. Among 191 minors, only 48 were found, including 29 girls and 19 boys, while 137 minors, mostly girls, were still missing. Women and girls accounted for the highest numbers.

Additional Solicitor General Aishwarya Bhati informed the court that several states had submitted data on missing children and related prosecutions, but nearly a dozen were yet to comply. "Any conclusive assessment can be made only after complete data is received from all states," she said.

The Bench suggested that rescued children should be interviewed to identify those responsible and warned defaulting states of strict orders. The court stressed urgency, and noted coordinated action between police, states, and the Centre was essential.

Govt combating cyber crimes amid attempts to steal sensitive data: Shah

MUKESH RANJAN @ New Delhi

THE growing threat of cyber attacks goes far beyond financial fraud and poses a serious challenge to national security, Union Home Minister Amit Shah said on Tuesday, warning that India's sensitive data is being stolen and sold to hostile forces.

Delivering the keynote address at the national conference on "Tackling Cyber-Enabled Frauds & Dismantling the Ecosystem", organised by the CBI, Shah said cyber security has become critically important as digital transactions and UPI-based payments are now part of everyday life.

Over ₹8k cr recovered

Shah said agencies led by the I4C have saved or frozen over ₹8K cr of the ₹20K cr swindled till Nov 30, 2025

Shah said his ministry took an early and firm stand against cybercrime and has consistently worked to promote cyber awareness among citizens. He asserted that cybersecurity has strengthened significantly under the Modi government over the past several years.

"Our country's data is being stolen and sold to our enemies, and we are making continuous efforts to stop it," Shah said. He added that progress has been made in tackling cybercrime, strengthening the criminal justice system and recovering money lost.

Stressing the need for stronger safeguards, Shah said the focus must be on reducing "leakage from all sides". He stressed real-time reporting of cybercrime, improved awareness and better cyber hygiene, saying a secure framework involving all agencies was essential. Highlighting the role of the I-Force platform, Shah said it has facilitated coordination among agencies and delivered results. "Now the time has come to take I-Force a step further," he said.

He said agencies, including the RBI, the NIA and the CBI, are working in close coordination to combat cybercrime. The government aims to bring all cooperative banks under it by December 31.

GROWTH OVER GRADES: THE SPIRIT OF PARIKSHA PE CHARCHA

SUKANTA MAJUMDAR
Union Minister of State for Education

IN classrooms and households across the country, examinations are often seen as decisive moments that determine a child's future. In keeping with the vision of Prime Minister Narendra Modi—who, through Pariksha Pe Charcha, has championed a student-friendly and stress-free education system—it is important to remind ourselves that exams are not meant to be sources of fear, but opportunities for learning, reflection and self-discovery. The PM's consistent message has been clear: marks should never define a child's worth.

Unfortunately, society often interprets lower grades as a sign of failure or personal inadequacy. This habit of judging a student's value solely through academic performance has distorted our understanding of what grades truly represent. Too often, a single score is mistaken for the total measure of a student's diverse abilities and potential.

The emotional toll of this mindset is visible in disappointment, embarrassment, fear and helplessness. Persistent academic struggle can even lead to what psychologists describe as 'learned helplessness', where students begin to believe that effort no longer matters. At this stage, curiosity—the very heart of learning—slowly fades.

The spirit of Pariksha Pe Charcha seeks to correct this misunderstanding by placing the student's mental well-being at the centre of the exam process. It urges students, parents and teachers to see exams not as judgements on personal worth, but as milestones in a longer journey of growth.

Since its first edition on February 16, 2018, Pariksha Pe Charcha has grown steadily in scope and participation. What began as a town-hall-style interaction at Talkatora Stadium in New Delhi has evolved into a nationwide platform reaching millions of students through in-person, virtual and hybrid formats. Participation has expanded from a few tens of thousands in the early editions to over 3.5 crore registrations in 2025.

Grades are intended to measure a learner's current level of understanding, skill and progress in a particular subject at a specific moment. They reflect performance, not permanent ability. While they may indicate classroom attention, reading habits and preparation, they are never absolute measures. A wide range of factors—such as anxiety, health, personal circumstances, learning styles, teaching methods and assessment formats—shape these outcomes.

THE INITIATIVE URGES PARENTS, TEACHERS AND STUDENTS TO CONSIDER EDUCATION NOT AS A RACE FOR MARKS, BUT A JOURNEY OF CHARACTER, CURIOSITY AND COURAGE. HOLISTIC GROWTH NURTURING CONFIDENCE AND PROBLEM-SOLVING SKILLS MATTERS MORE THAN GRADES

Therefore, when a student performs poorly, there is always room for improvement. The right perspective is crucial. Grades are temporary indicators that highlight areas for growth. When treated as final judgements of ability, they damage self-esteem and weaken motivation. When understood properly as feedback, they become powerful tools for learning and development. In this sense, poor grades are not the end of the road, but signposts guiding students toward better strategies and deeper understanding.

Teachers play a decisive role in shaping how students interpret success and failure. When educators compare students with others or make negative remarks, they may unintentionally damage self-confidence. In contrast, when they explain mistakes clearly and offer guidance, they help students improve. By encouraging collaboration and valuing every learner beyond numerical scores, teachers can transform classrooms into spaces of growth rather than fear.

In many families, academic performance is closely tied to expectations and social status. When children underperform, parents may react with anger or comparisons, creating fear and pressure. Supportive responses, however, build resilience. By asking constructive questions and encouraging problem-solving, parents help children rebuild confidence and motivation.

Peers also influence how students cope with failure. By being understanding and offering help, students can support those who are struggling. Helping one another builds friendships and prepares students for real-life challenges.

In the end, what matters is not the grade itself but how it is understood and used. When seen as proof of failure, bad grades damage self-worth. When viewed as feedback, they become tools for improvement.

In this larger vision, Pariksha Pe Charcha stands as a transformative national platform that humanises exams and restores confidence in young minds. The PM has consistently reminded the nation that education is not a race for marks, but a journey of character, curiosity and courage. When grades are understood in this spirit, they do not weaken our children—they prepare them to face life with strength and wisdom.

Stick to 1-week deadline or else face stern action, threatens CEO

Asks District Electoral Officers, DMs to circulate the warning to all field officials across state

SUBHENDU MAITI @ Kolkata

A day after the Supreme Court directed the Election Commission to complete scrutiny of documents linked to the Special Intensive Revision of electoral rolls in West Bengal within seven days beyond the February 14 deadline, the office of the state Chief Electoral Officer on Tuesday warned officials of action for any lapse in compliance.

Chief Electoral Officer Manoj Agarwal asked Electoral Registration Officers and Assistant Electoral Registration Officers to implement the court's directions, failing which "strong adverse action" would follow. The CEO's office also instructed District Electoral Officers and District Magistrates to circulate the warning to all field officials across the state.

"In reference to the above, I am directed to state that the Order of the Hon'ble SC dated 09.02.2026 in WP 1089/2025 and connected matters has directed EROs/AEROs to dispose of notice cases, claims and objections within a week after 14.02.26," the additional CEO wrote to the DEOs.

On Monday, the apex court said, "We direct that at least one week beyond 14.02.2026 be granted to the EROs/AEROs to complete the scrutiny of the documents and take an appropriate decision." The additional CEO further stressed that "EROs/AEROs should be directed to strictly comply with the above timelines and directions of the SC while disposing of notice, claims and objections pertaining to SIR 2026."

"Deviations, if any, will be viewed very seriously and adverse inference shall be drawn against the concerned EROs/AEROs," the letter added. Officials said the final draft of the post-SIR electoral rolls is likely to be published after the earlier scheduled deadline of February 21. Election Commission sources said a high-level delegation of the Commission is likely to visit West Bengal for two days from March 2 to take stock of the situation. The delegation is expected to meet Agarwal, the additional CEO, special roll observers and senior administrative officers.

The Supreme Court's order triggered rival political claims. The ruling Trinamool Congress said the verdict amounted to a "stinging rebuke" to the ECI, while the BJP said it exposed attempts by the state government to stall the special intensive revision of poll rolls.

TMC, BJP lock horns over Supreme Court order

The Supreme Court's order triggered rival political claims. The ruling Trinamool Congress said the verdict amounted to a "stinging rebuke" to the ECI, while the BJP said it exposed attempts by the TMC-led state government to stall the SIR of electoral rolls. BJP state chief Samik Bhattacharya said the order proved the state administration and ruling party were responsible for harassment during the SIR process.

Assam voters' number falls by 2.43L in final list

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @ Guwahati

THE EC on Tuesday published the final voters' list for poll-bound Assam following a special revision of electoral rolls, with over 2.43 lakh names deleted from the draft roll.

According to data released by the office of the state's Chief Electoral Officer on Tuesday, the number of voters fell from 2,52,01,624 in the integrated draft list to 2,49,58,139 in the final list. "This represents a 0.97% decrease compared to the draft voter list," an official statement said. The final voter list contains names of 1,24,82,213 male electors, 1,24,75,583 women and 343 others who belong to the third-gender category.

The special revision, conducted from November 22 to December 27 last year, saw 7.87 lakh additions and 10.26 lakh deletions. Altogether, 4,78,992 names were deleted because of deaths, 5,23,680 voters were found to have moved from their registered addresses, and 53,619 demographically similar entries were identified for correction.

Oppn members expelled from House after Nitish minister, RJD MLC clash

RAMASHANKAR @ Patna

THE Legislative Council witnessed pandemonium for the second consecutive day on Tuesday after a heated argument broke out between senior JD(U) member and minister Ashok Choudhary and RJD MLC Sunil Singh over Chief Minister Nitish Kumar allegedly addressing former chief minister and LoP Rabri Devi as "a girl" in the House.

The uproar began soon after proceedings started, with Opposition members demanding an apology from the CM for his remark made during a debate on rising incidents of rape in the state. Chairman Awadhesh Narayan Singh attempted to pacify members, but the Opposition remained adamant.

Amid the chaos, a sharp exchange between Choudhary and Sunil Singh escalated into personal attacks. The ruling side alleged that the RJD MLC used abusive language against the minister. Opposition members stormed the well of the House, raised slogans and disrupted proceedings.

Citing repeated disorder, Chairman Singh marshalled out Opposition members for the remainder of the day. He said, "The decorum of the House will not be compromised," adding that the matter would be investigated and action initiated in line with Supreme Court rulings.

Bihar Industries Minister and BJP leader Dilip Jaiswal condemned the incident, alleging abusive language was used against a minister from the Dalit community. Calling it "an insult to the temple of democracy", he demanded an investigation of the video footage.

The State Assembly also saw disruptions, with Opposition parties protesting rising rape cases during the Budget Session before staging a walkout.

6,412 couples wed under state govt patronage

The Science College Ground in Raipur transformed into a sea of celebration as 6,412 couples across Chhattisgarh tied the knot simultaneously, marking a historic chapter in the state's social welfare journey. The mega event, held under the Mukhyamantri Kanya Vivah Yojana, earned a recognition in the Golden Book of World Records for its scale and cultural diversity. The scheme emerges as a pillar of "Antyodaya"—serving the last person in society. CM Vishnu Deo Sai personally blessed 1,316 couples at the main venue, and thousands of more couples joined the ceremony via virtual link from various districts. Each couple received assistance of ₹35,000.

Raipur emerges as the 'tech gateway' of state

In a move to transform Chhattisgarh into a premier technology hub, the state government signed an MoU with the Software Technology Parks of India, paving the way for the establishment of a Centre of Entrepreneurship and an Electronics System Design and Development Centre. These centres will provide world-class infra, mentorship, and funding to local youth, effectively curbing the "brain drain" to metropolitan cities. The CoE will focus on cutting-edge sectors including Artificial Intelligence, MedTech, Smart Cities, and Smart Agriculture. The ESDD Centre is slated to support up to 40 hardware start-ups annually in the state.

All weather landing for Bilaspur airport

The DGCA approval for the upgradation of Bilaspur Airport from the 3C-VFR category to 3C All Weather Operations, the only city after Raipur, is being cited as significant and may have far-reaching consequences in the direction of the state's development. Besides strengthening regional connectivity, the consent will provide passengers with safer and more convenient air services. The all-weather operations will give fresh impetus to trade, industry and tourism activities in Bilaspur and surrounding regions. The decision will not only encourage industrial investment but also help generate new employment opportunities.

Clashes between Nagas & Kukis on in Manipur

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @ Guwahati

A fresh bout of violence rocked the Litan area of Manipur's Ukhrul on Tuesday, prompting the state government to suspend Internet services in the Naga-majority district and parts of the adjoining Kangpokpi and Kamjong districts.

The area has been on the boil since Saturday night, after a member of the Tangkhul community was allegedly assaulted by a group of Kuki-Zo tribals. As tensions between Kuki-Zo and Naga villagers run high, with more than 10 houses set afire on Tuesday, the Home Department ordered the suspension of Internet, including broadband services, for five days in view of the "volatile situation and the apprehension that anti-social elements might use social media for transmission of images, posts and video messages inciting the passions of the public, which could have serious repercussions on the law-and-order situation."

"The situation is not under control," Ukhrul District Magistrate Asish Das admitted, even as he dismissed reports of loss of lives in the violence, which continues despite the enforcement of prohibitory orders under Section 163 of the BNSS.

No arrest yet in Kanpur Lamborghini crash case as Yogi warns of action

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

WHILE no arrests have yet been made in connection with the shocking Lamborghini crash that left half a dozen people injured on Kanpur's VIP Road on Sunday, police have claimed that businessman KK Mishra's son Shivam Mishra was behind the wheel and a chargesheet would soon be filed in the case.

Kanpur Police Commissioner Raghubir Lal on Tuesday said that police were investigating the claims of the accused Shivam Mishra's family that he was an epilepsy patient and had suffered a fit while driving the luxury car which resulted in the mishap. He said police would seek his medical history and try to establish if the claims that he had suffered a seizure leading to the accident were true. Meanwhile, Finance Minister Suresh Khanna informed the media persons in Lucknow that CM Yogi Adityanath has ordered strict action.

Anyone found guilty in the investigation would not be spared. On the other hand, Shivam's father tobacco baron KK Mishra himself reached out to the police accusing the investigators of implicating his son in the crime as a part of conspiracy. Shivam's lawyer had earlier claimed that the car was being driven by a hired driver and not Shivam.

"Shivam was not driving. His health is fragile. An application has been moved in the court and all proceedings will follow the legal process. The matter will be heard shortly," Mrityunjay Singh, the lawyer representing Mishras, had earlier said.

Sudden uptick in HIV cases in Bengal dist raises concern

SUBHENDU MAITI @ Kolkata

HEALTH authorities in West Bengal's East Bardhaman district have reported a recent increase in HIV infections, with 90 new positive cases identified. Officials noted that individuals from diverse professional and educational backgrounds have been hit, underscoring that HIV transmission can occur across all sections of society.

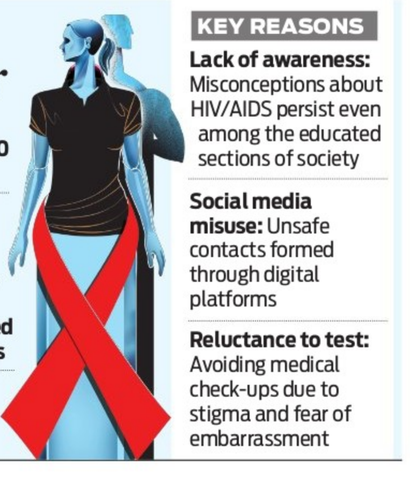
Debashis Roy, public health official of the East Bardhaman Zilla Parishad, stated that the number of reported cases has risen over the past three months. "Earlier, the number of HIV-positive cases in the district was lower, and many infections were detected among working-class populations. Recent data show a broader demographic distribution," he said.

Health officials emphasised that the rise in cases is linked to unsafe sexual practices and delayed testing, rather than to any specific social or identity group. Experts noted despite high levels of education among some affected individuals, gaps remain in consistent adoption of preventive measures such as condom use and regular HIV screening. Investigations suggest that increased social connectivity, including through digital platforms, may have facilitated closer contact among individuals without adequate attention to safe practices.

Among the newly identified cases are professionals from the healthcare, education, and corporate sectors. Several individuals sought medical care after experiencing prolonged illnesses, which led to HIV testing and diagnosis. Authorities stressed the importance of early detection and routine testing to prevent transmission.

The administration has expanded awareness efforts across universities, academic institutions, government offices, families, and hospitality establishments. The health department has also strengthened surveillance and outreach efforts in locations where high-risk behaviours may occur, with a focus on education, testing, and prevention services rather than enforcement.

Chief Medical Officer of the district Dr Jayram Hembrom said, "The rise in cases highlights the need to further expand access to testing and reinforce messages on safe practices."



Unsafe sex a driving factor
90 HIV cases reported in East Bardhaman, including 30 in Bardhaman town
Most affected are educated & professionally established people
Spread linked to homosexuality, unprotected sex & social media contacts
Cases include doctors, professors, teachers, corporate officials
KEY REASONS
Lack of awareness: Misconceptions about HIV/AIDS persist even among the educated sections of society
Social media misuse: Unsafe contacts formed through digital platforms
Reluctance to test: Avoiding medical check-ups due to stigma and fear of embarrassment

JMM, Cong lock horns in Ranchi mayoral poll

MUKESH RANJAN @ Ranchi

AMID an ongoing strain in ties between ruling alliance partners, Congress and the Jharkhand Mukti Morcha (JMM), the two parties have once again locked horns in the Ranchi mayoral election.

Though officially non-partisan, the race has emerged as one of the most closely watched in Jharkhand's ongoing urban local body polls, reflecting deepening political fault lines between the two allies.

While the BJP has extended support to Roshni Khalkho, the Congress has fielded former mayor Rama Khalkho. The ruling JMM, on the other hand, has backed Sujit Anand Vijay Kujur as its preferred candidate. Meanwhile, JMM has urged Congress-backed mayoral candidate Khalkho to withdraw from the election and support JMM-backed Vijay Kujur.

Ranchi district president of JMM, Mushtaq Alam, has reminded the Congress of alliance principles, stating that Khalkho has already served as mayor of Ranchi and is contesting again. It is time for her to adhere to alliance principles and withdraw from the election in support of the JMM-backed candidate, he said.

"We have already seen the tenure of Rama Khalkho as Ranchi Mayor, now we are supporting a young candidate, Vijay Kujur. People of Ranchi must take advantage of his energy," said Mushtaq Alam.

Shocked with the JMM's decision to back Kujur at the last moment without consulting with them, the Congress dismissed the appeal. Party leaders said it had earlier suggested a joint strategy between the Congress and JMM for the Ranchi mayoral seat, but no concrete initiative was taken by the ruling party.

"It is too late now.... the election process has now reached an advanced stage, leaving little scope for political adjustments," said State Congress Spokesperson, Jagdish Sahu.

Despite having nos., Cong fails to form Maha board

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

THE Congress faced a big setback in the Chandrapur mayoral elections despite emerging as the single largest party, as its Maha Vikas Aghadi ally, Shiv Sena (UBT), backed the BJP.

The BJP secured 32 votes while the Congress followed closely with 31 votes in the mayoral race, in which MIM and Vanchit Bahujan Aaghadi chose to remain absent.

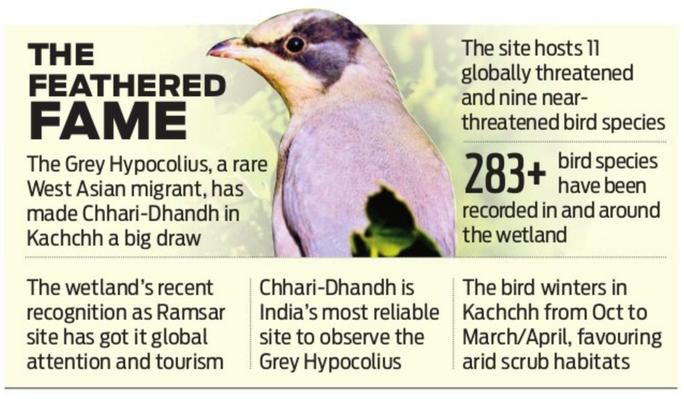
BJP corporator Sangeeta Khandekar secured the Mayor's post while Shiv Sena (UBT) corporator Prashant Danav was elected the Deputy Mayor by a vote against the Congress party in Chandrapur. This has prompted the grand old party to allege horse-trading.

Rare Grey Hypocolius puts Gujarat firmly on global birdwatching map

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA @ Ahmedabad

THE rare Grey Hypocolius has emerged as the biggest global draw at Gujarat's Chhari-Dhandh wetland in Kachchh, turning the recently declared Ramsar site into a hotspot for international birdwatchers and underscoring the state government's sustained push to protect its natural heritage.

With over 283 bird species recorded in and around the wetland, Chhari-Dhandh was always rich in avian diversity, but experts say a few rare migrants have pushed it into the global spotlight. Leading the list is Grey Hypocolius (Hypocolius ampelinus), locally called Maskati Latoro, a slender passerine that breeds across Iraq, Iran, Afghanistan and Pakistan before wintering in the arid scrublands of Kachchh.



THE FEATHERED FAME
The Grey Hypocolius, a rare West Asian migrant, has made Chhari-Dhandh in Kachchh a big draw
The site hosts 11 globally threatened and nine near-threatened bird species
283+ bird species have been recorded in and around the wetland
The wetland's recent recognition as Ramsar site has got it global attention and tourism
Chhari-Dhandh is India's most reliable site to observe the Grey Hypocolius
The bird winters in Kachchh from Oct to March/April, favouring arid scrub habitats

"This is the most reliable site in India to observe the Grey Hypocolius," wildlife photographers from Kachchh say, adding that "for global birders, Chhari-Dhandh is now a must-visit destination." They note that the Ramsar tag has only amplified international interest, placing the wetland firmly on the world's conservation and ecotourism radar.

Birdwatchers say the Grey Hypocolius arrives in the Fulay scrub forest between October and November and remains until March or April, moving in small flocks through arid scrub, desert edges and nearby farmlands. The bird is often detected by its distinctive squeaky wails and whistles.

France's President Emmanuel Macron

Macron urges European role in renewed Putin dialogue

PARIS

FRENCH President Emmanuel Macron has said he wants to include European partners in a resumption of dialogue with Russian leader Vladimir Putin nearly four years after Moscow's invasion of Ukraine.

He spoke after dispatching a top adviser to Moscow last week, in the first such meeting since Russia launched its full-scale invasion of Ukraine in February 2022. "What did I gain? Confirmation that Russia does not want peace right now," he said in an interview with several European newspapers including Germany's Suddeutsche Zeitung.

"But above all, we have rebuilt those channels of discussion at a technical level," he said in the interview released on Tuesday. "My wish is to share this with my European partners and to have a well-organised European approach," he added. Dialogue with Putin should take place without "too many interlocutors, with a given mandate," he said.

Macron said last year Europe should re-engage Putin instead of leaving the US to lead Ukraine war talks. "Whether we like Russia or not, Russia will still be there tomorrow," Suddeutsche Zeitung quoted the French president as saying. "It is therefore important that we structure the resumption of a European discussion with the Russians, without naivety, without putting pressure on the Ukrainians — but also so as not to depend on third parties in this discussion."

The Kremlin said on Tuesday it welcomed Macron's approach and was awaiting a concrete proposition for further talks.

"Russia has always advocated maintaining dialogue, which, in our view and firm belief, can help resolve the most urgent and most difficult problems," Kremlin spokesman Dmitry Peskov said. AFP

Huge travel wave to hometowns marks Bangladesh's poll run-up

1 million security personnel, armed forces backing, three-tier cover planned for Feb 12 elections

DHAKA

BANGLADESH's capital and other major cities on Tuesday witnessed a massive travel rush as thousands thronged to bus terminals and railway stations to travel to their hometowns ahead of elections.

Bangladesh will hold parliamentary elections on February 12, the first since the ouster of Prime Minister Sheikh Hasina in massive country-wide protests in August 2024. Transport operators said they faced unusually heavy numbers of passengers with long queues of people waiting for travel tickets at major bus terminals and train stations.

"It is almost like the traditional rush of homebound passengers we see during Eid vacations," said Abdur Rahim, who runs a tea stall adjacent to Dhaka's Mohakhali Bus terminal.

Witnesses sketched nearly identical scenes at other bus terminals and Dhaka's main Kamalapur Railway station, which operate buses and train services to different directions of the country from the capital. "I want my family to move to village home as people are saying there could be massive violence during the voting and days thereafter," said Jashim Uddin, a commercial press worker in Dhaka.

Newspaper reports said a huge number of people were going to their native village homes from the southeastern port city of Chattogram and other metropolises, but alleged that the passengers complained of transport operators charging extra fares at many places.

Many passengers also said they waited for hours with their family members for buses, but the terminal operators said they were faced with a transport shortage as many buses were requisitioned by law enforcement agencies for election duties. Bangladesh police's inspector general, Baharul Alam, said the main law enforcement agency would be backed by armed forces and paramilitary troops to maintain the law and order situation during the voting and afterwards.

"A three-tier security arrangement will be put in place at the country's over 42,000 polling centres and each centre will have a static police presence to be supported by mobile patrol teams and striking forces to respond to any emergency," he said. Nearly one million security personnel were deployed nationwide to maintain order. PTI

Hindu trader hacked to death inside his shop

DHAKA: A 62-year-old Hindu trader was hacked to death by unidentified men inside his shop in Trishal, Mymensingh, on Monday night, police said. Susen Chandra Sarkar was found by family members after attackers left him bleeding and shut the store. He was declared dead at hospital. His son alleged cash was looted. The killing adds to recent attacks on minorities, with rights groups reporting rising communal violence ahead of Bangladesh's Feb 12 elections. Police said an investigation is under way.

Iran steps up nuke diplomacy with envoy's Oman visit

DUBAI

A top Iranian security official traveled on Tuesday to Oman, the Mideast sultanate now mediating talks between Tehran and Washington over the Islamic Republic's nuclear programme aimed at halting a possible American strike.

The visit by Ali Larijani, a former Iranian parliament speaker who now serves as the secretary to the country's Supreme National Security Council, likely focused on what comes next after the initial round of indirect talks held last week in Muscat with the Americans.

Larijani's entourage shared photos of him meeting with Omani Foreign Minister Badr al-Busaidi, the chief intermediary in the US-Iran talks, with what appeared to be a letter sheathed in plastic and sitting alongside the Omani diplomat. Iran has in the past communicated its positions in writing when dealing with the Americans — and famously, Japan's then-Prime Minister Shinzo Abe tried to hand Iranian Supreme Leader Ayatollah Ali Khamenei a letter from Trump in 2019 that he refused to take.

Iranian media had said Larijani would deliver an important message. However, Iranian state television hours after that meeting described al-Busaidi as having "handed over a letter" to Larijani. It did not elaborate from where the letter came. Larijani also met with Oman's Sultan Haitham bin Tariq for nearly three hours, the state-run IRNA news agency reported.

Neither Iran nor Oman offered any details on what had been discussed in Larijani's meetings. Larijani was later to travel to Qatar, which hosts a major US military installation that Iran attacked in June after the US bombed Iranian nuclear sites during the 12-day Iran-Israel war.

Iran and the US held nuclear talks last week in Oman. Abbas Araghchi told diplomats in Tehran Iran would maintain uranium enrichment, a key dispute with Donald Trump. The war disrupted earlier talks between Washington and Tehran. AP

Trump threatens to block Canada-built Detroit bridge

WASHINGTON

DONALD Trump on Monday threatened to block the opening of a new Canadian-built bridge across the Detroit River, demanding that Canada turn over at least half of the ownership of the bridge and agree to other unspecified demands in his latest salvo over cross-border trade issues.

"We will start negotiations, immediately. With all that we have given them, we should own, perhaps, at least one half of this asset," Trump said in a lengthy social media post, complaining that the United States would get nothing from the bridge and that Canada did not use US steel to built it.

The Gordie Howe International Bridge, named after a Canadian hockey star who played for the Detroit Red Wings for 25 seasons, had been expected to open in early 2026, according to information on the project's website. The project was negotiated by former Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder — a Republican — and paid for by the Canadian government to help ease congestion over the existing Ambassador Bridge and Detroit-Windsor tunnel. Work has been underway since 2018. It's unclear how Trump would seek to block the bridge from being opened, and the White House did not immediately return a request for comment on more details. The Canadian Embassy in Washington also did not immediately return a request for comment.

Trump's threat comes as the relationship between the US and Canada increasingly sours during the US president's second term. The United States-Mexico-Canada trade agreement is up for review this year, and Trump has been taking a hard-line position ahead of those talks, including by issuing new tariff threats.

Canadian Prime Minister Mark Carney, meanwhile, has spoken out on the world stage against economic coercion by the United States. AP

ASIA MATTERS

Flexible travel plan for Eid rush

A nationwide Work From Anywhere scheme will be rolled out to ease heavy travel during the 2026 Eid al-Fitr homecoming. The policy covers March 16–17 and March 25–27, targeting outbound and return flows. Officials said it allows remote work while keeping operations running. It applies to public and private sectors, but excludes essential services like healthcare, retail, manufacturing and food. Remote workers will receive full wages and no leave deductions. Authorities expect reduced congestion and smoother mobility, with a formal directive to follow.

Late-night market fire hits 28 shops

A late-night blaze tore through a popular weekend market, damaging two blocks and 28 shops before firefighters brought it under control, officials said. The fire broke out around 10.42pm and was contained within half an hour, with multiple crews deployed to stop its spread. No casualties were reported as the market was closed. The affected stalls were mainly clothing shops. Authorities suspect an electrical short circuit, but forensic teams will determine the exact cause and assess losses. Damaged area covered roughly 240 square metres across several tightly packed rows.

Citizenship law change from June 1

Automatic citizenship for children born overseas to local mothers and foreign fathers will take effect June 1, pending royal assent. Authorities are finalising regulatory changes and an online pre-registration system after constitutional amendments. The reform addresses long-standing gender disparities in citizenship rules and follows updates to existing regulations.

Scrolling turns sticky in Meta, YouTube child harm trial

LOS ANGELES

COMPARING social media platforms to casinos and addictive drugs, lawyer Mark Lanier delivered opening statements on Monday in a landmark trial in Los Angeles that seeks to hold Instagram owner Meta and Google's YouTube responsible for harms to children who use their products.

Instagram's parent company Meta and Google's YouTube face claims that their platforms addict children through deliberate design choices that keep kids glued to their screens. TikTok and Snap, which were originally named in the lawsuit, settled for undisclosed sums.

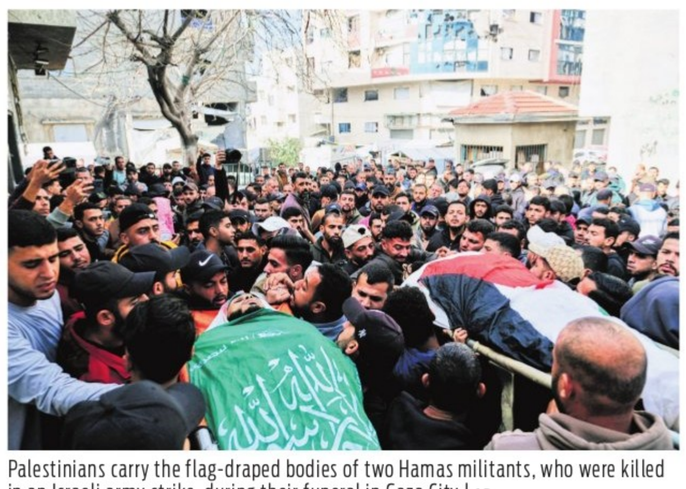
Jurors got their first glimpse into what will be a lengthy trial characterized by dueling narratives from the plaintiffs and the two remaining defendants.

Meta lawyer Paul Schmidt spoke of the disagreement within the scientific community over social media addiction, with some researchers believing it doesn't exist, or that addiction is not the most appropriate way to describe heavy social media use. Lawyers representing YouTube will begin their opening statement on Tuesday.

Lanier, the plaintiff's lawyer, delivered lively first remarks where he said the case will be as "easy as ABC" — which stands for "addicting the brains of children." He said Meta and Google, "two of the richest corporations in history," have "engineered addiction in children's brains." He presented jurors with a slew of internal emails, documents and studies conducted by Meta and YouTube, as well as YouTube's parent company, Google. He emphasized the findings of a study Meta conducted called "Project Myst" in which they surveyed 1,000 teens and their parents about their social media use.

The two major findings, Lanier said, were that Meta knew children who experienced "adverse events" like trauma and stress were particularly vulnerable for addiction; and that parental supervision and controls made little impact. AP

Israeli minister says West Bank moves signal sovereignty, no Palestinian state



Palestinians carry the flag-draped bodies of two Hamas militants, who were killed in an Israeli army strike, during their funeral in Gaza City | AP

RAMALLAH

A top Israeli official said Tuesday that measures adopted by the government that deepen Israeli control in the occupied West Bank amounted to implementing "de facto sovereignty," using language that mirrors critics' warnings about the intent behind the moves.

The steps "actually establish a fact on the ground that there will not be a Palestinian state," Energy Minister Eli Cohen told Israel's Army Radio. Palestinians, Arab countries and human rights groups have called the moves announced Sunday an annexation of the territory, home to roughly 3.4 million Palestinians who seek it for a future state.

Cohen's comments followed similar remarks by other members of Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu's government, including Finance Minister Bezalel Smotrich and Defense Minister Israel Katz.

The moves — and Israeli officials' own descriptions of them — put the country at odds with both regional allies and previous statements from U.S. President Donald Trump. Netanyahu has traveled to Washington to meet with him later this week. Last year, Trump said he wouldn't allow Israel to annex the West Bank. The US-brokered ceasefire between Israel and Hamas that aimed to stop the war in Gaza also acknowledged Palestinian aspirations for statehood.

The measures further erode the Palestinian Authority's limited powers, and it's unclear the extent to which it can oppose them. In a statement on Tuesday, President Mahmoud Abbas' cabinet "instructed all public and private Palestinian institutions not to engage with these Israeli measures and to strictly adhere to Palestinian laws and regula-

US-B'desh deal may dent India's garment exports

US lowers general reciprocal tariff from 20% to 19%, agrees to reduce tariffs to zero on select Bangladeshi garment and apparel products

SANAL SUDEVAN @ Chennai

DAYS after India secured a favourable tariff outcome for textiles under its interim trade arrangement with the US, a fresh variable has emerged -- Washington's trade deal with Bangladesh.

Under the Bangladesh pact, the US has lowered the general tariff from 20% to 19% (compared with India's 18%). More significantly, the US has agreed to cut tariffs to zero on select Bangladeshi garment and apparel products, provided the cotton used is sourced from the US. Industry voices say this conditional zero-duty window could disrupt cotton and yarn trade flows in the region, even if India's finished garment exports remain largely insulated.

K M Subramanian of the Tiruppur Exporters' Association (TEA) said the zero-duty provision could affect cotton garment exports. "If this materialises, we would request the government to re-negotiate aspects of the trade deal with the US," he said, adding that the benefit is not exclusive to Bangladesh and could, in principle, be extended to others meeting the sourcing condition.

Apparel exports may not be affected, but cotton and yarn shipments could take a hit. The extent will become clear in a few days

Atul Ganatra, CMD of Radhalakshmi Group

Bangladesh exports about $7.5 billion worth of apparel to the US, while India ships $10.5 billion of textiles and apparel.

The Confederation of Indian Textile Industry (CITI) flagged a two-fold challenge. Chairman Ashwin Chandran said, "First, the tariff gap between India and Bangladesh has narrowed from 2 percentage points to 1 percentage point, which matters in a low-margin sector. Second, the US-Bangladesh pact could adversely affect India's cotton yarn exports to Bangladesh." Commerce ministry data show India exported cotton yarn worth ₹14,802 crore in FY25. Some industry leaders see the development as a near-term disruption rather than a structural setback.

Apparel Export Promotion Council (AEPC) Chairman Dr A. Sakthivel said India could potentially access similar benefits if it agrees to source cotton from the US.

"Overall, the impact on textile industry is negligible. India still enjoys an 18% tariff, lower than Bangladesh's 19%. We already import long-staple and extra-long-staple cotton from the US, which is not widely produced domestically," he said.

He added that garment exports are unlikely to be affected in the immediate term as US buyers continue to place orders with Indian exporters for quality and reliability.

Atul Ganatra, CMD of Radhalakshmi Group and mentor at the Cotton Association of India, said the pressure would be felt more in raw cotton and yarn shipments.

CONTOURS OF TWO DEALS: INDIA MAY FACE COMPETITION

PUSHPITA DEY @ New Delhi

WITHIN a week of concluding trade negotiations with India, the US has finalised a deal with Bangladesh. The contours of the two deals underline Washington's differentiated approach towards the two South Asian developing economies, and the competitive pressures India may face as a result.

Under the interim US-India framework, New Delhi has agreed to eliminate or reduce tariffs on a wide range of American industrial and agricultural goods, including wine and spirits, while the US will lower reciprocal tariffs on Indian exports from 25% to 18%. It has also removed the 25% additional tariff on Indian goods.

The US-Bangladesh deal gives Dhaka preferential market access, with US tariffs lowered to 19% from 20% earlier, while providing zero-duty access for select products, textiles and apparel, subject to conditions. Bangladesh's commitments extend into regulatory reforms, including acceptance of US safety and FDA standards, freer data flows, labour reforms, environmental safeguards and intellectual property protection.

Unlike India, which has adopted a protectionist approach to safeguard farm sectors, Bangladesh has opted for a more liberal approach by opening farm sector. Bangladesh has committed to import $3.5 billion worth of US agricultural products, including wheat, soya, cotton and corn. India has refrained from opening dairy and several other agri products.

India's textiles and apparel, worst-hit after the US imposed tariffs of up to 50% in August, got some relief with the US bringing down tariffs to 18%. Under the US-Bangladesh pact, certain Bangladeshi textile and apparel products made from materials imported from the US will get to tap the US market at a zero duty. India, despite securing lower duties on the US cotton imports, has not yet obtained comparable preferential access for textile exports.

Finally, the Trump administration has asked India to stop purchasing Russian oil and warned that the US will be monitoring India's energy purchase. However, India and the US haven't yet set any target for the energy purchase. But Bangladesh has set a target of purchases of energy products from the US, with an estimated value of $15 billion over 15 years.

RCPL buys Tamil Nadu food brand for ₹156 crore

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Chennai

RELIANCE Consumer Products (RCPL), FMCG arm for Reliance Industries, on Tuesday said it has acquired Tamil Nadu-based Southern Health Foods, which is known for its flagship brand Manna, as the former focuses on to build a strong business vertical in millet-based foods segment.

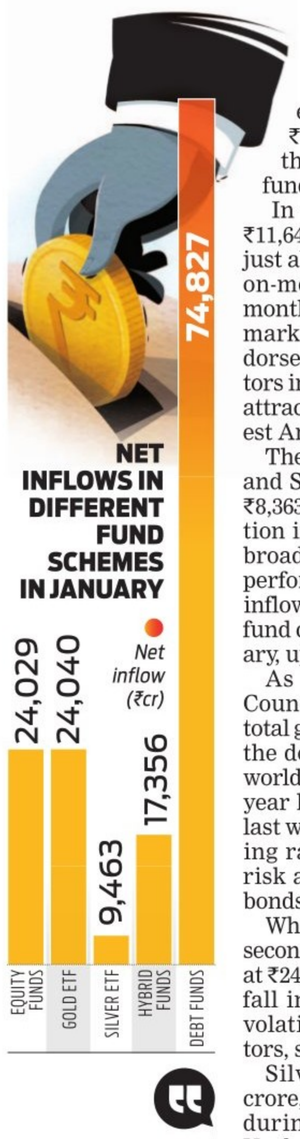
The RCPL acquired Southern Health Foods (SHFPL) for a cash consideration of ₹156.42 crore, showed exchange filings. The SHFPL was incorporated on April 16, 2012. The turnover of SHFPL for FY25, FY24 and FY23 was ₹109.40 crore, ₹127.37 crore and ₹126.65 crore, respectively. Manna's acquisition to RCPL portfolio consisting of brands like Udhaiyam, Independence, SiL to boost and deepen its presence in fast-growing millet-based and health food segment.

Independence is a brand launched by the Reliance in 2022, selling consumer packaged goods like staples and processed foods. T Krishnakumar, director, Reliance Consumer Products, said, "Manna is one of the most trusted names in the health focused foods market in Tamil Nadu with noticeable presence in the adjoining states. It is known for healthy offerings like millet-based staples and mixes, drinks and baby food. Apart from adding muscle to RCPL's packaged foods portfolio, Manna's addition will help us serve consumers the best nutritious foods."

In December 2025, the RCPL had announced that it acquired another Tamil Nadu-based Udhaiyam, owned by Udhaiyams Agro Foods. In January last year, the RCPL had acquired Mumbai-based SiL Foods, which is leading player in fresh jams, sauces, ketchup and other food products. In October 2025, the RCPL had relaunched another iconic personal care brand Velvette in Chennai after acquiring in February.

EXCHANGE TRADED FUNDS

Gold ETF inflows rise 2x to ₹24k cr, level equity funds



Investors continued allocating to gold ETFs at significantly elevated gold prices which might turn out to be a mistake in the long-term

Vikas Gupta, Omniscience Capital

BENN KOCHUVEEDAN @ Mumbai

THE inflows into gold exchange traded funds (ETFs) soared two times to ₹24,040 crore in January, which is more than the inflows into equity oriented funds, in a first for the segment.

In the previous months this was only ₹11,647 crore, while equity funds gathered just about ₹24,028 crore, down 14% month-on-month, marking the second straight month of declines. The gold ETF milestone marks one of the strongest monthly endorsements of bullion by domestic investors in recent years. Year-to-date, gold ETFs attracted ₹61,000 crore, according to the latest Amfi data released on Tuesday.

The surge stands out against the October and September levels of ₹7,743 crore and ₹8,363 crore, respectively, a clear acceleration in investor interest in gold alongside broader portfolio allocations. The strong performance of gold ETFs push total net inflows across ETFs and overseas-oriented fund categories to ₹39,954.63 crore in January, up from ₹26,723.24 crore in December.

As per the data from the World Gold Council, January accounted for 12.5% of total gold ETF assets under management in the domestic market. Gold ETF holdings worldwide remain near a more than three-year high, even after a pullback in prices last week, as the drivers behind the blistering rally including elevated geopolitical risk and waning confidence in sovereign bonds and currencies remain in place.

While equity MFs continued to fall for the second month, attracting 14% lesser inflows at ₹24,028 crore in January on top of a 6.2% fall in the previous month, amid market volatility and a cautious stance by investors, silver ETFs saw ₹9,463 crore inflows.

Silver ETFs saw an inflow of ₹9,463.4 crore, taking the AUM to ₹1.16 lakh crore during the reporting month. Amfi CEO Venkat Chalasani told reporters on Tuesday "the January data reflects a steady trend in the industry despite ongoing global uncertainties and short-term market volatility. While the industry's net AUM crossed ₹81 lakh crore, up from ₹80.23 lakh crore in December, average AUM for the reporting month crossed the ₹82 lakh crore mark."

'AI agents won't hit IT services pricing'

PADMINI DHRUVARAJ @ Bengaluru

HAPPIEST Minds Technologies said concerns about AI agents hurting IT services pricing are premature, adding that deploying such tools still requires integration, workflow and security work from services firms.

Speaking to TNIE, the management of Happiest Minds said while AI and generative AI (GenAI) are becoming part of everyday technology work, they are not yet disrupting the core economics of IT services in the way some market fears suggest.

Addressing recent volatility in technology stocks triggered by the launch of agents such as Anthropic Claude, the company said statements around autonomous agents replacing large parts of IT services need to be examined more closely.

"All the transactions that these agents would conduct and the data they generate have to go somewhere. The current systems being used also need that data to be exposed and utilised.

All transactions AI agents would conduct and data they generate have to go somewhere. Current systems being used need that data to be exposed and utilised

Joseph Anantharaju, co-chairman & CEO of Happiest Minds

There is a security element involved, as well as a process and workflow element," said Joseph Anantharaju, co-chairman & CEO of Happiest Minds.

In addition, workflows, processes and compliance requirements need to be built around these tools before they can be used at scale. This, he said, creates fresh work for IT services firms rather than eliminating the need for them.

Anantharaju added that some of the recent statements from global AI companies were "a little bit of a self-serving statement", aimed at putting their platforms at the centre of attention. In practical terms, he said, customers still need service providers to make these technologies usable in real business environments.

Further, Venkatraman Narayanan, MD of Happiest Minds, said that their customers are not asking for people to be replaced by AI. Instead, most adoption so far has focused on improving productivity. The company said around 75% of its customers are already using productivity tools such as coding assistants on projects. These tools are now moving from simple adoption to measurement, with customers tracking output and efficiency gains.

A newer trend is the discussion around hybrid models where coding agents work alongside human developers, particularly for technology modernisation and reducing legacy technology debt. However, these discussions are still largely at the proposal stage, with limited full-scale implementation so far, he said.

Additionally, Narayanan said it is easier to train people on AI tools than to replace them, as employees already understand the platforms, processes and industry context in which they operate. Happiest Minds said it has already trained 75–80% of its workforce on at least one productivity tool and expects all employees to be conversant with such tools by the end of the current financial year or early next year.

On revenues, the company said generative AI services are currently a small but growing part of the business.

JAPAN

$1.4 TRILLION FOREX RESERVES UNDER SCRUTINY

Japan's foreign currency reserves have come under renewed scrutiny as Prime Minister Sanae Takaichi scours for funding to bankroll a plan to suspend a consumption tax after her landslide election win. The focus on $1.4 trillion stockpile, far larger than the annual state budget, underscores intense pressure on Tokyo to identify alternative funding sources for an estimated 5 trillion yen ($31.99 bn) annual revenue shortfall. Following Sunday's election victory, Takaichi pledged to speed up deliberation on suspending 8% tax on food sales for two years without issuing new debt, saying details would need to be discussed with other parties. Some govt officials, who spoke on condition of anonymity due to the sensitivity of the matter, say Takaichi may look to tap the surplus from the reserves after she noted in her campaign speech that Japan's foreign reserves were a major beneficiary of the weak yen and "performing very well."

SINGAPORE

ECONOMY GROWS 5% IN 2025, 2026 OUTLOOK UPGRADED

Singapore's economy grew by 5% in 2025, easing from 5.3% in 2024, the Ministry of Trade and Industry said on Tuesday, while raising its growth forecast for 2026 to a range of 2-4%. In November, the ministry had projected growth of 1-3% for 2026. Since then, the global economy has outperformed expectations, with most major economies posting stronger-than-expected growth in Q4 of 2025, the ministry said. Global trade activity remained resilient despite US tariffs, it added, and the momentum is likely to carry into 2026. Singapore's growth in 2025 was driven by manufacturing, wholesale trade, and finance and insurance sectors, it said. Within manufacturing, electronics cluster expanded strongly, while the machinery, equipment and supplies segment of wholesale trade also posted robust growth, supported by strong demand for AI-related electronics.

INDONESIA

ECONOMY GROWS 5.11% IN 2025

Indonesia's economy grew by 5.11% in 2025, with the manufacturing sector emerging as the principal engine of growth, supported by rising investment levels and sustained industrial activity, as per official statistics. As per ANTARA, economic expansion accelerated towards the end of the year, reaching 5.39 per cent year on year in the fourth quarter of 2025. During the same period, manufacturing output increased by 5.40%, underscoring the sector's central role in driving national performance. Investment momentum strengthened, with gross fixed capital formation rising by 6.12%, led by domestic capital. Manufacturing currently accounts for about 19% of Indonesia's GDP, making it the single largest contributor to economic output. Continued investment in production facilities and higher utilisation of existing assets are expected to support further expansion of the sector in 2026, with growth projected to approach 6%.

Tata Motors, Stellantis to collaborate

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

TATA Motors Passenger Vehicles (TMPV) and Stellantis, parent company of global brands such as Jeep, Citroen and Fiat, on Tuesday signed a Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) to explore opportunities for collaboration across manufacturing, engineering and supply chain in India and overseas.

The two companies commemorated 20 years of partnering via their 50:50 JV, Fiat India Automobiles Private Limited (FIAPL). Since its formation, FIAPL, which operates a vehicle and powertrain facility in Pune has produced 1.37 million vehicles and employs about 5,000 people. The facility has an annual output capacity of 222,000 units.

FIAPL manufactures a portfolio of Stellantis models including Jeep Compass, Meridian, Grand Cherokee (CKD) and Wrangler (CKD) as well as Tata Motors' Nexon, Altroz, and Curvv. Supported by in-house production of advanced engines, transmissions, and traction motors, the facility exports vehicles to key global markets such as Japan and South Africa. While they didn't disclose the nature or investment details, a statement stated FIAPL has developed robust strength across manufacturing, powertrain, and supply-chain excellence, laying a strong foundation for expanding future collaboration.

Tata Motors bags mega order from Indonesia

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

INDIAN automakers are winning big contracts in Indonesia. After Mahindra & Mahindra bagged its biggest order of 35,000 units, Tata Motors has secured its largest order ever of 70,000 vehicles in Indonesia. The two homegrown auto majors will deliver vehicles to the Indonesian state-owned enterprise Agrinas Pangan Nusantara.

PT Tata Motors Distribusi Indonesia, a wholly-owned indirect subsidiary of Tata Motors, on Tuesday announced that 70,000 vehicles will be delivered to PT Agrinas Pangan Nusantara, an enterprise which focuses on modernising agricultural supply chains, empowering rural cooperatives and advancing national food security initiatives.

Tata Motors, India's largest commercial vehicle (CV) company, will supply 35,000 units each of the Yodha (pick-up) and the Ultra T.7 (truck), to its subsidiary PT Tata Motors Distribusi Indonesia. The subsidiary will then supply the vehicles to the Indonesian firm.

Through the Koperasi Desa and Kelurahan Merah Putih Project, major strategic projects of Indonesia, the vehicles will support Indonesia's broader nation-building efforts by strengthening rural connectivity, livelihoods and economic resilience, said Tata Motors in a statement. Asif Shamim, Director, PT Tata Motors Distribusi Indonesia said, "This order reflects the continued acceptance of Indian commercial vehicles in international markets and the confidence of customers in their ability to operate reliably across diverse conditions."

Carlyle picks up 45% in Edelweiss home fin arm

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

EDELWEISS Financial Services on Tuesday said US-based asset manager Carlyle group has agreed to pick up 45% of the company' subsidiary Nido Home Finance.

The Carlyle investment includes acquisition of 45% stake and a primary equity capital infusion of ₹1,500 crore in the Edelweiss unit. The announcement, along with robust earnings, saw the shares of parent Edelweiss soaring 9%. The company said its net profit more than doubled to ₹264 crore YoY despite 3.4% fall in interest income. Carlyle joins the likes of Blackstone and Sumitomo Mitsui Financial Group in betting on domestic booming housing finance sector.

At the end of the deal, investment funds affiliated with Carlyle Asia Partners will hold about 73% of Nido, Edelweiss added.

Opener Abhishek misses practice, Bumrah trains after missing 1st tie

GOMESH S @ New Delhi

SOME time after India assistant coach Ryan ten Doeschate addressed the media at the Arun Jaitley Stadium, the Men in Blue were going through their match-day minus two drills. As the sun went down on a genteel late winter day, Ishan Kishan was among the first to pad up. However, his partner at the top, Abhishek Sharma, was nowhere to be seen. Sharma, who didn't take the field during the second innings against the USA in Mumbai, had been down with a stomach issue and did not come to the ground with the team. Earlier, Ten Doeschate had explained that the left-hander was still down and because of the issue. "Abhi still got a few issues with his tummy. We hope that he'll be available for the game in a few days' time," the assistant coach said.

While the clash against Namibia is only on Thursday and Sharma may recover in time, it should not come as a surprise should the opener miss the contest. After all, the last thing the team management would want is not to have the services of the explosive opener when they take the field against Pakistan in Colombo on Sunday. Which is why Sanju Samson had a stint with Kishan, to ensure he would be ready if pressed into service on Thursday. The Kerala batter looked rusty and was struggling to time the ball while Kishan and Tilak Varma were sending the balls into the stands regularly.

Then, the focus shifted to Jasprit Bumrah, who, according to Ten Doeschate, has not bowled in ten days. The last time Bumrah bowled was during the fifth T20I against New Zealand in Thiruvananthapuram. In the days that followed, Bumrah stayed with the team but didn't bowl. When he missed the USA match, the BCCI had said that it was due to "illness" and did not clarify on the specifics.

On Tuesday, Ten Doeschate said: "Bumrah will bowl today as well. He has been off 10 days without bowling, but he's feeling a lot better and moving a lot better. So we'll see how training goes for them and get the team together." Later, Bumrah slowly warmed up with what seemed like spot bowling drills on either side of the training pitches while chatting with bowling coach Morne Morkel and head coach Gautam Gambhir. After a while, he went back to the dugout and came back with a different pair of shoes.

He then bowled on one of the training pitches with Morkel watching over. In between, he was in conversation with with Morkel and his teammates before running in. As the training progressed, he started bowling with more intensity to skipper Suryakumar Yadav. Varma too faced a fair bit of Bumrah as the premier pacer smoothly got through the crease and hit the deck hard. After what seemed like a good half hour, he went back to the dressing room.

Meanwhile, on the other side of the nets, Gambhir had his eyes on Washington Sundar, who had joined the team in New Delhi after being out of action for the past month due to a rib injury he had suffered during the South Africa series. He, too, went through the fielding drills before rolling his arm consistently on one side of the training pitch, along with the other spinners in the squad.

India have a long campaign ahead of them. And they would not want to risk any of the three key players this early into the event. If things go as per plan, they may end up facing Australia, South Africa and West Indies in the Super eights apart from the clash against Pakistan on Sunday. Which is why chief selector Ajit Agarkar, who is with the team, and coach Gambhir will keep a close eye on all three of Bumrah, Sharma and Washington over the next few days.

Shah, Naqvi may share stage on Feb 15

FIROZ MIRZA @ Mumbai

JAY Shah, the chair of the International Cricket Council (ICC), could be within handshaking distance of Mohsin Naqvi, the chief of the Pakistan Cricket Board (PCB), during India's high-voltage clash against Pakistan in Colombo on Sunday.

With the impasse over between PCB and the ICC, several dignitaries, including Shah and Naqvi, are expected to be in attendance in the Sri Lankan capital for the game. Aminul Islam Bulbul, president of the Bangladesh Cricket Board (BCB) and Shammi Silva, chief of Sri Lanka Cricket (SLC), could also grace the occasion. "There is a possibility of the PCB chairman and the ICC chief travelling to Colombo on February 15 to watch the India-Pakistan match, along with the Sri Lanka and the Bangladesh board presidents," a source in the know of things told this daily. "The objective behind the public appearance is to give an impression that the rift within the house is over now. Obviously when they meet, they can discuss anything further that needs to be resolved."

SLC secretary Bandula Dissanayake said the co-hosts have not been apprised of the visit so far but said they are happy to welcome the guests. "They are welcome whenever they want to come and enjoy the match," he told this mast. Dissanayake also welcomed the decision taken by all the stakeholders. "It's good for the SLC and Sri Lanka as a country. I hope it's not too late for the fans to throng Colombo and watch the match. It will be a big boost for our economy and also serve the cause of our tourism and hotel industry," he said. The Pakistan government on Monday had given the greenlight to their team to play. "In view of the outcomes achieved in multilateral discussions, as well as the request of friendly countries, the Government of Pakistan hereby directs the Pakistan National Cricket Team to take the field on February 15, 2026, for its scheduled fixture in the ICC Men's T20 World Cup (...)," the government posted on X.

Record players: Tim & Finn fly high

ASHOK VENUGOPAL @ Chennai

Finn Allen & Tim Seifert posted a T20 WC record partnership of 175 | ASHWIN PRASATH

TIM Seifert seems to be a man on a mission. The New Zealand opener scored his second consecutive half-century (unbeaten 89) while fellow opener Finn Allen cracked unbeaten 84 as the Kiwis crushed UAE by 10 wickets in the ongoing ICC World Cup at the MA Chidambaram stadium at Chennai on Tuesday.

The Kiwi pair chased down 173 without any hiccups. Seifert, who had hit 65 in the opener against Afghanistan at the same venue, showed that he is improving with every outing. Their partnership of 175 was a record for any wicket in the marquee event. Both Seifert and Allen paced their innings well and were spot on in their shot selection. New Zealand chased down the target with 28 balls to spare, recording their second successive win in the process.

NZ VS UAE

UAE brought in left-arm spinner Hyder Ali to open the bowling and employed Rohid Khan, a left-arm fast bowler at the other end. This was done with an objective to curb the Kiwis stroke-play and force them to commit mistakes. However, that didn't pay off as Seifert and Allen were sensible in their approach and navigated the early phase expertly. UAE bowlers lacked pace and were erratic in the lines and length that they bowled. The Muhammad Waseem-led side's spinners lacked the flight, imagination or drift to trouble both Seifert and Allen's footwork and were thus, were carted all over the park.

Mitchell Santner, New Zealand skipper, was a pleased man. He also lauded UAE for their batting effort. "Yeah, it was alright (win). Credit to UAE, they batted pretty well on that wicket. Summed up the conditions pretty quickly and made a pretty good score. But, you know, that was a pretty flat wicket in the end," said Santner.

"I thought once we kind of understood the conditions, it looked like a lot better wicket than the other day. Red soil tends to play a lot better. They (UAE) played some good shots, I'm not going to lie. They used the pace nicely, so I think once we went more into the wicket and slower, they really kind of held it more. And, the death phase from seamers was outstanding. With the bigger side, yeah, we kind of thought that was the option. So I think Rachin (Ravindra) bowled extremely well (...)," Santner said while talking about the bowlers' efforts.

10 years on, England hope for turn in fortunes

FIROZ MIRZA @ Mumbai

AROUND 10 years ago, it was here at the Wankhede Stadium where England and West Indies started their T20 World Cup campaign with the latter going on to win the title, defeating the same rivals in the final. The two will cross the path once again at the same venue albeit in their second match of 2026 T20 World Cup campaign.

West Indies defeated Scotland in their opener at the Eden Gardens while England survived a scare against Nepal to secure two points at the iconic venue in Mumbai a day later.

With the two teams squaring off against each other, one can't help but look back at the contest they had almost a decade ago at the facility. England posted a competitive 182/6 with Joe Root top-scoring with a 36-ball 48 for them. Chris Gayle, however, made the contest one-sided with his unbeaten 100 off just 48 balls that included five fours and 11 sixes. Jos Buttler was part of the England outfit then and he is now an experienced member of the team 10 years down the line. A day before the match, Buttler spoke about the match and hoped the result would be different this time around.

"Yeah, I do remember. I had a good view for that. I actually think Moeen (Ali) bowled an unbelievable spell of bowling at him and then he decided to hit the last three balls he faced off Mo for three sixes so — Chris Gayle is the best T20 batter there's ever been so yeah ten years ago obviously hopefully the result can be different tomorrow night," Buttler said while addressing a press conference on Tuesday.

Nepal gave England a run for their money a couple of days ago and Buttler opined such close games are a learning curve. "We've been playing some good T20 cricket for a little while now. We had a good series in Sri Lanka before this and going back in the previous 12 months, we've learned plenty as a side, playing different games in different conditions, different styles of T20 cricket. Tournament cricket is a bit different. Obviously the consequences are different. So learning how to manage those emotions and how to - the cricket is the same, but obviously the consequences and the pressures of that are then different. So if you can hold your nerve and manage to still execute skills, knowing that the consequences are different, that's probably a good learning for the group that we can do that." Experienced English bowlers like Jofra Archer (1/42 in his four overs) and Adil Rashid (42 runs in three overs without a wicket) were plundered for runs as Nepal batters were in pursuit of that upset victory. Buttler said that's how a T20 game is played out and any bowler can go for runs.

Netherlands' Bas de Leede & Scott Edwards celebrate their win on Tuesday | SAYANTAN GHOSH

NED VS NAM

Leede powers Netherlands

NEW DELHI: Bas de Leede scored an unbeaten 72 and took two wickets as the Netherlands hammered Namibia by seven wickets for their first win at the T20 World Cup on Tuesday. The all-rounder struck key blows with his pace bowling to help restrict Namibia to 156-8. De Leede then turned up with the bat to hit five fours and four sixes in his 48-ball knock to help the Netherlands chase down their target with 12 balls to spare. His third-wicket partnership of 70 with Colin Ackermann, who scored 32, set up the chase.

BRIEF SCORES

Namibia 156/8 in 20 ovs (Frylinck 30, Loftie-Eaton 42; Van Beek 2/13, De Leede 2/20) lost to Netherlands 159/3 in 18 ovs (Levitt 28, De Leede 72 n.o, Ackermann 32)

UAE 173/6 in 20 ovs (Waseem 66 n.o; Sharafu 55, Henry 2/37) lost to New Zealand 175/0 in 15.2 ovs (Seifert 89 n.o, Allen 84 n.o)

Farhan, Tariq shine for Pak

AGENCIES @ Colombo

OPENER Sahibzada Farhan hit a solid half-century while spinner Usman Tariq grabbed three wickets as Pakistan downed the United States by 32 runs in Colombo on Tuesday.

The 29-year-old hit five sixes and six fours in his 41-ball 73 and was aided by a brilliant 32-ball 46 by Babar Azam (four fours, one six) to guide Pakistan to a strong 190-9 total at the Sinhalese Sports Club ground.

PAK VS USA

Their spinners then checked the inexperienced USA batting with Tariq taking 3-27 and Shadab Khan 2-26 to restrict their opponents to 158-8 in 20 overs. The win avenged Pakistan's shock defeat at the hands of USA in the T20 World Cup two years ago and handed them a second win in as many games following their close three-wicket win over the Netherlands on Saturday.

For USA, Shubham Ranjane top scored with a valiant 30-ball 51 including three sixes and as many fours. Brief scores: Pakistan 190/9 in 20 ovs (Farhan 73, Babar 46; Van Schalkwyk 4/25) bt USA 158/8 in 20 ovs (Ranjane 51, Jahangi 49; Tariq 3/27).

Bengal complete massive victory to enter Ranji semis

AGENCIES @ Kalyani

BENGAL marched into the semifinals of the Ranji Trophy after registering an innings and 90 runs victory over Andhra here, the foundation of which was laid by Sudip Kumar Gharami's monumental 299.

Resuming their second innings on 64 for three on Day 5, the contest was as good as over for Andhra after they conceded a massive first-innings lead of 334 runs on the fourth day. Bengal will now take on Jammu and Kashmir in the semifinal from February 15, while Karnataka face Uttarakhand in the other last-four clash.

On the final day's play, Andhra hoped to avoid an outright defeat but left-arm spinner Shahbaz Ahmed struck some vital blows on a fifth day pitch to script a big win for Bengal.

DATA TO GO ORBITAL

SPAICE ODYSSEY

TAMREEN SULTANA @ Hyderabad

THE world, it seems, is not enough for artificial intelligence. As the race to dominate AI intensifies, the pressure is driving increasingly ambitious ideas, including proposals to take data centres beyond Earth itself. Among those pushing this line of thinking is Elon Musk, who argues that hyperscalers need vast data centres that demand enormous amounts of electricity, land and cooling, while also raising environmental concerns. In response, tech giants now envision a vast constellation of satellites functioning as orbital data centres powered primarily by unlimited solar energy in space! The stuff of sci-fi, eh?

Scepticism, of course, remains. Large cloud operators are not fully convinced that enough launch capacity exists to support data centre-scale infrastructure in orbit. Rockets are expensive, schedules are tight and space is already crowded.

Musk keeps returning to the same point: solar power. "The solar opportunity is underestimated," he has said, arguing that energy captured in space could bypass the limitations facing terrestrial grids. In orbit, sunlight is constant, unfiltered by weather or night cycles. In a recent podcast, he went further, claiming space would become "the cheapest place to put AI data centres" within about three years. Whether that timeline proves optimistic is unclear, but the direction of thinking has undeniably changed.

Strip away the hype, and a space-based data centre is conceptually simple. It performs the same functions as one on Earth: storing data and executing computation. The difference lies in architecture. Instead of a single massive facility packed with servers, compute and storage would be broken into modules, mounted on satellites and connected through high-speed optical links. Together, they would behave like a distributed cloud, just one that happens to orbit the planet.

The pressure driving this rethink is already visible on the ground. As Anand Raj Gopalan, former CEO of T-Works, puts it, "With AI, the more compute you have, the better your models become." But on Earth, he says, money is no longer the main problem. Land acquisition is slow, regulatory approvals are complex, power availability is uneven, and cooling and water usage have become flashpoints.

A single hyperscale data centre can draw anywhere between 100 and 300 megawatts of power, roughly equivalent to what a mid-sized city consumes. Some AI-focused facilities are now being designed at 500 megawatts or more. Globally, data centres already use an estimated 250–400 terawatt-hours of electricity each year, accounting for roughly 1–2% of total power consumption.

Heat is the hidden villain in this story. Around 80% of the power fed into advanced chips is expelled as heat, Gopalan notes. Cooling alone can consume 30–40% of a facility's total energy, often requiring enormous volumes of water. Add local resistance, grid strain and environmental clearances, and new projects can take years to come online.

"For companies building AI models, the constraint today is not capital," says Ronak Kumar Samantray, founder of TakeMe2Space. "It is how quickly you can get compute online." From that perspective, space begins to look less exotic and more practical.

Orbit does remove some constraints, but it introduces new ones. Launch costs have historically run into tens of thousands of dollars per kilogram, though rockets such as Starship and New Glenn could bring that down to a few hundred dollars. Computing hardware must be shielded from radiation, adding weight and cost. Cooling is also technically complex, since heat must be conducted and radiated away in a vacuum rather than dissipated through air or water.

Cybersecurity risks, however, remain broadly similar. Whether servers sit in a warehouse or circle the Earth, the same encryption standards and communication protocols apply. The bigger environmental concerns focus on launch emissions and the growing problem of orbital debris. Supporters argue that once deployed, orbital data centres draw no power from Earth, require no water for cooling and release no waste heat into the atmosphere, potentially offsetting their launch footprint over time.

India is not leading the charge into orbital computing, but it is not entirely absent either. Regulatory pathways have been relatively smooth, according to industry players, though capital remains a major constraint. Four major US technology firms—Microsoft, Meta Platforms, Amazon and Alphabet—plan to spend up to about $670 billion in 2026 on AI infrastructure. By contrast, India's Budget allocated ₹1,000 crore to the India AI Mission for the 2026–27 fiscal.

Gopalan believes India's advantage may lie in timing. As launch costs fall and orbital infrastructure matures, late movers could still carve out niches in specialised AI workloads and space-linked computing. Space-based data centres will not replace terrestrial ones anytime soon. Latency-sensitive services must stay close to users, but backend AI training can tolerate delays of seconds. Any shift will be gradual, shaped by economics, engineering reliability and energy realities. Space, once a novelty, is now firmly part of the conversation.

INTELLIGENCE UNCHAINED IN BIOTECH

SIDDHARDHA GATTIMI @ Hyderabad

ARTIFICIAL intelligence is quietly rewriting the rules of biotechnology, shifting the grind of scientific trial-and-error from crowded laboratories to lines of code. What once demanded years of wet-lab experimentation can now be explored through simulations, allowing researchers to test ideas at a speed and scale that would have been unthinkable a decade ago.

The shift is most evident in drug discovery, where a process once reliant on testing tens of thousands of molecules in the lab is becoming increasingly computational. AI models trained on biological, chemical and genetic data can predict promising compounds early, filtering out failures before they reach wet labs and compressing years of experimentation into days or weeks.

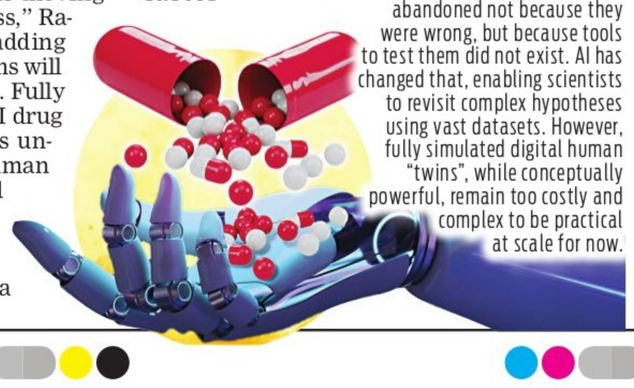
AI's strongest impact is in early-stage drug discovery, where it helps identify biological targets, predict protein binding and optimise compounds for safety and stability. Its use is also expanding into genomics, precision medicine and pharmaceutical manufacturing, improving DNA analysis, therapy matching, yields and quality control. According to Kanneganti Ramarao, chief technology officer at Aganitha Cognitive Solutions, "AI is no longer a peripheral tool in biotechnology but a necessity. As drug-resistant bacteria rise, diseases grow more complex and precision medicine becomes mainstream, traditional methods struggle to keep pace. In some areas, we will be forced to use AI because there is no other way."

Beyond infectious diseases, AI promises personalised therapies tailored to genetics, but regulation lags. "The science is moving faster than the process," Ramarao notes, adding that trial reforms will shape adoption. Fully autonomous AI drug design remains unlikely, with human judgment and safety oversight essential. In practice, AI acts as a powerful collaborator, rapidly analysing vast datasets and generating insights at unprecedented speed. Experts further add that AI's ability to narrow thousands of candidate molecules to a manageable few has transformed drug optimisation, helping reduce toxicity, improve manufacturability and maintain multiple backup options. "Earlier, carrying alternatives was too expensive," Ramarao says. "Now you can afford to have several similar molecules ready in case one fails."

Despite India producing globally competitive scientists and hosting strong research institutions, commercial support for high-risk, innovation-led biotechnology remains limited. Many firms continue to prioritise licensing existing drugs or manufacturing established formulations, while deeper investments in AI-driven discovery remain cautious and exploratory.

Ramarao argues that the biggest barrier to AI's wider impact is not scientific capability but outdated processes. Clinical trials, regulatory submissions and approval systems were designed long before AI-driven pipelines emerged, leaving no standard mechanisms to evaluate AI-generated evidence. Progress is faster only in areas such as cancer, rare diseases and terminal illnesses, where regulatory flexibility allows innovation. As AI continues to tame biological complexity, biotechnology itself is being reshaped—no longer the exclusive domain of biologists, but an increasingly interdisciplinary field driven by engineers, mathematicians and machines that amplify human intelligence rather than replace it.

AI UNLOCKS COMPLEX BIOLOGY



Many biological ideas were abandoned not because they were wrong, but because tools to test them did not exist. AI has changed that, enabling scientists to revisit complex hypotheses using vast datasets. However, fully simulated digital human "twins", while conceptually powerful, remain too costly and complex to be practical at scale for now.

FARMER'S FRIEND

SENSORS UNLOCK SOIL SECRETS

ONE of the major and persistent problems faced by farmers is how much water and fertilisers should be applied to crops to ensure their healthy growth. While both are essential for crop growth, over-application wastes money and harms the environment, while under-application reduces yields.

Simply SCIENTIFICO

Science is a world in itself. Here are some interesting facts that connect with you

Nirad Mudur

Now, researchers at Purdue University have invented wireless sensors to assess subsoil health in an effort to cut costs and refine farming optimally, promising to make the lives of farmers easier while ensuring better yield. The new smart platform is called Hybrid Antenna for Radio-frequency-enhanced Volumetric water content and Electrical-conductivity-based Soil Tracking (HARVEST), a wireless platform that eliminates the need for onboard electronics, while employing nail-shaped sensing probes that are physically and electrically coupled to a triple-ring antenna positioned above the ground. It reduces signal loss while preserving sensitivity to subsurface changes, according to the paper published in Nature Communications.

The system offers deeper spatial and temporal insight into subsoil conditions, roughly eight inches below the surface, where roots draw water and nutrients, enabling data-driven farm decisions. It supports sustainable production by conserving resources, cutting pollution and ensuring long-term viability. The platform is well-suited to Indian farmers, particularly marginal, small and medium holders, who often struggle to judge correct water and fertiliser use accurately.

WITH JUST A FEW DAYS TO GO UNTIL VALENTINE'S DAY, CE TAKES A LOOK AT SIMPLE TALES OF LOVE FROM INDIAN VILLAGES, STILL CELEBRATED THROUGH ART

Metal figurines of Jhitku and Mitki

TINTED IN AFFECTION

JITHA KARTHIKEYAN

(The writer is an artist and curator, passionate about making art accessible to the larger public)

VALENTINE'S Day may be facing flak in recent years, often dismissed as an imported concept, but who hasn't ever been struck by Cupid's arrow? Although in our country, the divine love in our mythologies is what has been acknowledged – carved in stone, painted on ancient temple walls – if one searches the fabric of our nation, they will find quiet stories of intense warmth too. Every tribal culture has celebrated romantic sagas through art and with Valentine's Day just around the corner, CE takes a look at these simple love tales from the villages of India.

PRIMITIVE LOVE

Dhokra, a 4,500-year-old metal casting craft that uses the lost-wax casting technique, belongs to the tribal communities of West Bengal and Chhattisgarh. One of the earliest sculptures, The Dancing Girl of Mohenjo Daro, stands as a testament to the beauty of this craft. This 300-year-old story originated in Bastar. Jhitku and Mitki met at a fair and it was love at first sight. Jhitku was a lad from the neighbouring village and Mitki was the apple of her seven brothers' eyes. Not wanting to part from her, they welcomed Jhitku into their family. And then, there came a villain. Famine struck, superstition reigned. In the desperation that followed, it was concluded that an outsider would have to be sacrificed to appease nature's fury. Mitki's brothers caved in, sacrificed Jhitku and the heartbroken wife drowned herself in the pond. They live on even today as metal figurines, worshipped for their undying love.

DEPICTIONS OF LOVE

The Gond tribal community from Central India is known for its painting style. This art form, dating back over 2,000 years, tells stories of life and love through lines and dots. The Mahua tree is a constant feature in Gond art and is linked with romantic narratives. According to a legend, love blossomed between a Brahmin girl and a Gond Adivasi boy. The realities of social structures made this a forbidden inter-caste union and the desolate lovers were left with no option but to take their own lives, only to be reborn as the Ganja plant and the Mahua tree. This fable of unfulfilled love is a reminder of social conflicts in love, relevant even today.

LEGENDS FROM MARWARI CULTURE

This story from Rajasthani folklore symbolises the spirit of love. Prince Dhola of Narwar and Princess Maru of Poogal, the former a child and the latter an infant, were married and, according to custom, separated immediately after, until they turned adults and could live as a couple. To their ill fate, Maru had to move back to her kingdom when a drought struck. To make matters worse, Dhola lost his father and thus, the memory of his marriage was also forgotten. The Prince later married Princess Malwani.

Maru's love remained strong through the years and she constantly sent messages to the Prince. Malwani, however, made sure that the messages were never delivered to him. Later, Maru's folk singers awaken Dhola's memories through their music and he soon sets out to Poogal to claim his bride facing all the challenges on the way. The legend still remains in innumerable miniature paintings.

LOVE THAT BORE FRUIT

The art form practised by the Rathwa, Bhilala and Bhil tribes of Gujarat and Madhya Pradesh, called Pithora paintings, has a pivotal love story as its central theme. The heroine, Rani Kadi Koyal, is one of the seven sisters of Lord Indra. Love struck when she met Raja Kanjurana. Their love bore fruit after 9 months and their son was born. Dreading her brother's reaction, she abandoned the baby in a stream. The floating newborn was discovered by her sisters, who adopted him. Named Pithora, the boy grew up in the household uneventfully until one day, as a result of an outburst, the truth was revealed. The story ended on a happy note with the boy being reunited with his parents. Most houses paint the tale on their walls, in the belief that it would bring prosperity.

HOSTED EVERY WEEK, THESE FREE ELECTRIC UNICYCLE TRAINING SESSIONS AIM TO BRING A DIFFERENCE TO BENGALUREANS' EVERYDAY COMMUTE

WHERE THERE'S A WHEEL...

ANJALI RAM

IF you visit Basavanagudi on a Sunday morning, chances are high that you will see a small group gathered around for an activity unusual to many Bengalureans. But for people who are always on the lookout to do something new during the weekend, this weekly ritual of free unicycle training sessions, hosted by the RAD Unicycle Community, could be a perfect fit!

Founded by Kiran Makam, the company began as a simple effort to introduce people to a new way of moving through the city, away from the chaos of traffic. "We started using electric unicycles in Cubbon Park around 2022. People would ask how it worked and whether they could try it. That curiosity is what led us to start teaching free of cost," Makam recalls their journey.

Unlike their manual counterparts, these electric unicycles are self-balancing personal mobility vehicles powered by motors and batteries. Designed for short-distance commutes, they usually address everyday urban challenges like traffic congestion, parking hassles and pollution, but not many are aware of this way of commuting, says Makam. "Nearly 70 per cent of city commutes are under 15-20 kilometres. These unicycles are ideal for that," he points out, adding, "The best part is you don't need parking and you're not stuck in traffic."

For many who want to try it out, the intimidating part could be thoughts of the millions of ways it could go wrong, ending up getting hurt. But despite how intimidating they may look, learning to ride one isn't as difficult as it appears, Makam notes. "It usually takes two to three sessions for most people. We've even had someone learn the basics in under 15 minutes," he shares. According to him, riding an electric unicycle is more about understanding feedback than balance. "Forward and backward movement is handled by the wheel itself. You just learn how to control direction and distribute your weight. In most cases, the fall happens to the wheel, not the person," he further explains.

Looking back at the two years, running the sessions hasn't been without challenges for the team. Finding accessible public spaces and navigating regulations has been a constant hurdle, prompting them to move from Cubbon Park to Basavanagudi.

How to join?

The sessions, held every Sunday at 9.30am in Basavanagudi, are structured and inclusive. To manage interest and ensure fairness, the community operates through a WhatsApp group where a weekly poll determines who gets to attend each session. "We run a poll every Wednesday at 3pm on our WhatsApp group, and the first ten people to respond get a slot for the Sunday training session, so everyone gets a fair chance to participate," he shares.

Participants range widely in age from as young as five to as old as 65, though most fall between 20 and 35. With two instructors and limited slots per session, beginners are first guided through warm-up exercises, basic techniques and assisted riding until they are good to go. "Curiosity is the only requirement. We just ask people to bring protective gear if they have it," says Makam.

Talking about a bigger shift, Makam says that in the past couple of years, some participants ditched two-wheelers entirely for short commutes, replacing them with unicycles for errands, gym visits and even last-mile connectivity from metro stations. Others have gone on to purchase unicycles and contribute back to the community by mentoring newbies, he adds, "India is still new to these technologies, but cities like Bengaluru need smarter, more compact mobility solutions. The goal was never just fun. We wanted to build an electric unicycle community in India and shift how people think about personal mobility."

KNOW YOUR CITY

Arun Prasad, city-based history researcher, unravels interesting facts about Bengaluru in this weekly quiz series. So it's time for you to find out how familiar you are with the city, beyond its heritage buildings, IT parks and the pub culture.

THE QUIZ WILL BEPUBLISHED EVERYWEDNESDAY

Send answers to bengalurucityexpress @gmail.com with the subject line 'Know Your City Quiz'. Correct answers and names of first three respondents with right answers will be featured in CE.

1. Byramma, an eight-year-old girl, created a world record by swimming 18 hours across a well-known lake in Bengaluru way back in 1930. Byramma's achievement had attracted international media and was felicitated by Sir Mirza Ismail, the then Dewan of Mysore. Name the historic lake located near Basavanagudi, which was built by Kempegowda I in the 16th century. Is it Dharmambudhi Kere or Kempambudhi Kere?

2. Saalumarada Thimmakka, also known as Aala Marada Thimmakka, is renowned for planting and tending 385 Aalada Mara along a 45-km stretch of highway between Hulikal and Kudur towns in Karnataka. Apart from many international awards, Thimmakka has been honoured with the National Citizen's Award and was conferred with the Padma Shri in 2019. Thimmakka passed away in 2025 at the age of 114. Apparently, Aalada Mara is considered the national tree of India. What is the tree called in English?

3. Bengalureans boast of renowned Indian author and philanthropist Sudha Murthy, who has been on a mission to support the underprivileged sections of society. She was honoured with the Padma Shri for her social work in 2006. Name the non-profit organisation founded in 1996, headed by Murthy, supported by one of the largest IT companies based in Bengaluru.

STAY HYDRATED TO PROTECT YOUR VOICE THIS SUMMER: ENT'S EXPERT ADVICE

DR. PRERIT RAO

As summer temperatures rise in Bengaluru, doctors are seeing a steady increase in dehydration-related health concerns. While fatigue and weakness are well-known effects, dehydration's impact on throat and voice health is often ignored. ENT specialists report more cases of throat dryness, irritation, hoarseness, and voice fatigue during peak summer months, largely linked to inadequate fluid intake.

"Hydration is essential for healthy vocal cords," says Dr. Prerit Rao. "When the body lacks water, the throat dries out and the vocal cords lose lubrication, leading to hoarseness and irritation. These issues are worsened by pollution, smoking, acid reflux, and prolonged speaking." People who use their voice extensively—teachers, singers, call-centre professionals, and public speakers - are particularly vulnerable, as are children, the elderly, and those working outdoors.

Air-conditioned environments further reduce humidity, increasing throat dryness and voice strain. Dr. Rao advises adults to drink 2.5-3 litres of water daily during summer, include electrolyte-rich fluids like coconut water or ORS, limit excessive caffeine and very cold drinks, consume water-rich fruits, and rest the voice adequately. Simple hydration habits can effectively protect vocal health through the summer.

HIP FLEXOR TIGHTNESS: HERE ARE THE CAUSES, IMPACT AND KEY STRETCHES

Modern lifestyle that involves prolonged sitting, limited movement, and repetitive daily patterns often lead to tight hip flexors. When these muscles become shortened or stiff, they can contribute to lower-back discomfort, restricted mobility, reduced athletic performance and poor movement mechanics. Incorporating regular stretching and mobility work helps restore balance, improve movement efficiency, and reduce strain on surrounding joints.

TWO KEY APPROACHES TO RELIEVE HIP FLEXOR TIGHTNESS

1. Dynamic Flexibility (Mobility-Based Movements):

Dynamic flexibility involves controlled, movement-based exercises that gently take the hips through their full range of motion. These movements help increase blood flow, prepare the muscles for activity, and gradually improve flexibility without prolonged holds. Examples include:

- Walking lunges
- Leg swings (front-to-back or side-to-side)
- Lunge with torso rotation, and
- Dynamic world's greatest stretch

Performing dynamic mobility drills before workouts or after long periods of sitting helps activate the hip muscles and reduce stiffness throughout the day.

2. Static Stretching (Sustained Holds)

Static stretching focuses on holding a stretch position for 20-30 seconds to lengthen the muscle and release accumulated tension. This method is particularly effective after exercise or at the end of the day when muscles are warm. Examples include:

- Kneeling hip-flexor stretch
- Standing hip-flexor stretch
- Pigeon pose, and
- Butterfly stretch

Regular static stretching can improve long-term flexibility, posture, and overall hip function when practised consistently.

WHY HIP FLEXORS BECOME TIGHT

- Extended sitting hours: Desk work, commuting, and screen time.
- Insufficient mobility routines: Skipping warm-ups, stretching, or recovery sessions.
- Imbalanced training: Overemphasis on strength exercises without mobility work.

BENEFITS OF REGULAR HIP FLEXOR STRETCHING

- Improves range of motion in the hips, making daily movements smoother and more efficient.
- Supports better posture by reducing forward pelvic tilt and lower-back strain.
- Enhances workout performance through improved stride length, squat depth, and movement control.
- Reduces injury risk by maintaining balanced muscle flexibility across the lower body.

Hip flexor health is essential for comfortable movement, efficient workouts, and long-term joint stability.

THE VOYAGE OF LIFE

Artist Jiji Sabu's painting depicts life and how even amid turbulent waters, there is light that guides us on our journey forward

Pultizer-winner Jhumpa Lahiri sets the record straight why she has taken leave of English to write in Italian, where home is, her mother tongue, and the dangers of making language a nationalistic project

CROSSING A BOUNDARY

PARAMITA GHOSH

JHUMPA Lahiri is not at home, but she is not out of place either. The eldest daughter of Bengalis who moved out of India in the '60s into the New World, Lahiri found success in English with her short story collection Interpreter of Maladies (1999, Houghton Mifflin) that explored diaspora stories of displacement and identity. In 2012 and several books later, she moved to Rome with her family, and has found herself in Italian. As she told a packed hall at the Italian embassy in Delhi, "In between the hexameter of Ovid [she is translating Metamorphoses] and 8th-century Rome... that's where home has been."

Lahiri was in India for the first time with this new aspect of her identity – 'the Italian side' for which she adopted a new grammar, and put herself on a journey of expatriation – some would say, like Italo Calvino's Baron who abandoned the ground to live on the trees. The reaction to her 'Italian Project' certainly set off major alarms, revealed Lahiri at a gathering before the panel discussion between her and translator Gioia Guerzoni, moderated by Andrea Anastasio, director, Italian Cultural Centre, New Delhi.

Why leave English?

The Anglosphere was aghast – why leave English? But Lahiri was 'ready to set down everything' she knew and learn to write again. In this way, she was glancing at an older experiment of reinvention – that of her parents who left home to raise their children in the UK and US, passing on a language with middling success – and seeing what could be found. The space created between a mother-tongue and an immigrant child who belonged imperfectly to it.

As she put it, Bengali is her 'parents' language'. She felt nervous about speaking it with friends, she said. As for English, she was given to understand by her parents that it was best left outside, being 'other people's language'.

Home and elsewhere

Lahiri recognises no mother-tongue and says no language is foreign. The question of where home is, belonging, and 'mother tongues' fatigues her, even though her writing has been singularly focused on aspects of the crossover life – from The Namesake (2003, HarperCollins), her debut novel, to Roman Stories (2023, Penguin) her short story collection, which she first wrote in Italian and translated into English.

"Where is home... why is it even a question...? Why not life as positive drift and a largely nomadic experience?," she asked. It is a pertinent question at a time when national boundaries are being tightly defined around the globe and when dominant languages are seeking to criminalise dialects deeming them 'minor' or 'foreign'.

The quest for belonging is not my quest, said Lahiri. "Though yes, I may get attached to a place, there are places I miss...." Language as a project of nationalism or the prospect of "a monolingual centre of gravity is a dangerous one," she cautioned.

Nuanced outsiderism

Roman Stories has shown a shift in how Lahiri has written the outsider experience. Some Bengali characters in her earlier works were verbose and identitarian, bent on needless unpeeling of their culture's particularities. In Roman Stories there are no whiners; the writing is tighter and the conditions of immigrant life, having to negotiate language, culture and alienation feel real. In Boundary, the first story, the immigrant child, whose parents manage a holiday home patronised by city people, knows what is generosity and what are leftovers, and takes it on her chin. In The Steps, an aged Italian widow hazards a walk to the market as she does not want her groceries delivered by boys from another country. Thus uncovering what it looks like from the other side, for those who already live in a city, when they encounter difference.

The discussion moderated by Anastasio also touched on the various 'possibilities of not belonging', the role language plays in the process, and Lahiri's moving in between languages as expressions of her 'search, curiosity and attentiveness'.

Lahiri said she is drawn to big cities for a reason. "In that urban mix, there is safety," she said. "The question of who you are and where you come from, is diluted." Otherwise, it has always felt as not having 'full rights' to anywhere. In Rome, the situation is helped because she speaks Bangla; some conversations seeding the germ of a story. "There are a lot of immigrants in Rome.... I speak to them and ask how they are," she said. "I get to hear a lot of interesting things."

> Where is home...why is it even a question...? Why not life as a largely nomadic experience? Though yes, I may get attached to a place, there are places I miss – Jhumpa Lahiri, author

Gilli's Bigg Boss win boosts Super Hit pre-release business

CE FEATURES

THE Kannada comedy-suspense thriller Super Hit, directed by Vijay Anand, has gained fresh momentum ahead of its theatrical release on February 27, following the Bigg Boss Kannada Season 12 victory of its lead actor, popularly known as Gilli Nata.

Though Super Hit was completed well before Gilli entered the reality show, his recent win has significantly altered the film's visibility and commercial outlook. Director Vijay Anand admits the shift has been immediate and tangible. "Before the announcement, the film largely flew under the radar," he says. "Once Gilli won Bigg Boss, the reach widened overnight. The buzz translated directly into business."

The renewed attention has reflected across theatrical interest and digital negotiations, with the film now drawing statewide traction. An OTT deal has also been secured for a notable amount, underlining the increased confidence around the project.

Produced by G Umesh under the Vijayalakshmi Enterprises banner, Super Hit positions itself as a commercial entertainer blending humour and suspense, supported by an ensemble cast. Gilli, however, is keen to underline that the film is not designed as a solo showcase. "I am not the only hero here," he says. "Every character matters. Even a car plays a crucial role. It gave us the toughest time during the shoot."

The film stars Gowrav Shetty as co-lead, with Shwetha playing the female protagonist.

After the success of Theertharoopa Tandeyavarige, the director is said have locked a romantic drama with the actor

RAMENAHALLI JAGANNATHA IS IN TALKS TO DIRECT GOLDEN STAR GANESH

A SHARADHAA

RAMENAHALLI JAGANNATHA is clearly on a roll. The director is riding high on the success of Theertharoopa Tandeyavarige, the first Kannada release of 2026, which struck a chord with audiences, completed a strong 25-day theatrical run, and is now gearing up for its OTT premiere. As the film continues to draw appreciation, curiosity has been steadily building around Jaganath's next move.

CE has now learnt that the director is set to helm a film starring Golden Star Ganesh. According to sources, Jaganath and Ganesh, who have been in discussions for some time, have finally locked a subject. The director is currently in the preparation stage, working on the script and assembling the rest of the cast.

While details are being closely guarded, the project is said to be a romantic drama. An official announcement is expected once the film goes on floors, likely sometime this summer.

Ganesh, meanwhile, has an impressive set of films in the pipeline. He has almost completed the shoot for Srinivas Raju's yet-to-be-titled film and is currently working on Vikhyath AR's Yours Sincerely Ram. At the same time, Pinaka remains under production. Adding to this slate, Ganesh has also signed a film with director Chethan Kumar, which is yet to go on floors.

With Ramenahalli Jagannatha now joining this busy line-up, this collaboration is clearly one of the more interesting ones to watch out for in the coming months.

Yash's Toxic expands global business footprint with its ₹105 crore overseas deal

CE FEATURES

EVEN before entering active promotions, Toxic: A Fairytale for Grown-Ups has emerged as one of the most commercially significant Indian films in development, setting new benchmarks in pre-release business and global market valuation.

The Yash-starrer recently secured a major international milestone with overseas distribution major Phars Film acquiring the theatrical rights for the film's Indian-language versions in a deal valued at approximately 105 crore, structured as an advance on a commission basis. Trade observers are already viewing it as one of the largest overseas acquisitions for an Indian film at this stage of production. Notably, the agreement applies exclusively to the Kannada, Telugu, Tamil, Hindi, and Malayalam versions, while the English-language version remains outside its scope, underscoring the strong standalone global demand for Indian-language cinema.

The development follows another landmark deal that first highlighted the film's expanding market potential. Toxic became the first non-Telugu project to secure a 120 crore distribution agreement in the Andhra Pradesh and Telangana territories through Dil Raju's Sri Venkateswara Creations, reflecting the growing cross-regional valuation of star-driven Indian films.

Much of this market confidence is anchored in Yash's global theatrical pull following the unprecedented success of the KGF films which delivered record-breaking performance across multiple international territories, particularly in the GCC region. Industry sources indicate that Toxic is being considered as a global event release, with plans for one of the widest international rollouts for an Indian film, excluding Nepal, Japan, and China.

Directed by Geetu Mohandas and co-written by her and Yash, Toxic is mounted as a stylised, mature narrative blending large-scale spectacle with layered storytelling. The film features Yash in the lead alongside a prominent ensemble cast including Kiara Advani, Nayanthara, Tara Sutaria, Rukmini Vasanth, and Huma Qureshi, placing its pan-Indian and international appeal.

Shot simultaneously in Kannada and English, the film also releasing in Tamil, Telugu, Hindi, and other languages, is supported by a strong technical team. National Award-winning cinematographer Rajeev Ravi handles the visual design, while Ravi Basrur composes the music. Editing is by Ujwal Kulkarni. The action sequences are choreographed by Hollywood action director JJ Perry.

Produced by Venkat K Narayana and Yash under KVN Productions and Monster Mind Creations, Toxic is scheduled for worldwide theatrical release on March 19, coinciding with the festive holiday season, making it a major multi-market theatrical event.

LIKE FATHER, LIKE SON

NAMRATA JOSHI

SOME of the best films I saw at the Sundance Film Festival this year were about parents and children and all that brings them together and pulls them apart. Writer-director Walter Thompson-Hernandez's If I Go Will They Miss Me, about a knotty father-son relationship, was one that deserved more hype and buzz and an award to boot. An adaptation of Thompson-Hernandez's own short that won the short film jury award in the US Fiction category at the 2022 Sundance, If I Go Will They Miss Me had its world premiere in the NEXT section of the festival this year.

Centred on adolescent Lil Ant (Bodhi Dell), an artistically inclined, intelligent and intuitive kid, who looks up to his father Big Ant (J Alphonse Nicholson) as a role model, the film deals with their unspoken care and affection for each other as well as the tussle between them to cement and strengthen their bond. No wonder their eyes rarely meet; an awkward distance stays even as the father wants the son to give up drawing and toughen up. Confusion best defines Lil Ant's feelings as he admits things are better when his dad is not at home, yet he hopes he stays on with them.

There's this sense of jaggedness to the family dynamic at large with Big Ant, on his return from prison, trying hard to fill the cracks in his relationship with his wife, Lozita (Danielle Brooks), which contributes further to the unease and restlessness in Lil Ant. Casting Director Alan Luna brings together a terrific ensemble of professional actors and non-professionals. The performances, be it Dell, Nicholson or Brooks, are all lived in. They feel like a family, however dysfunctional. Thompson-Hernandez's cinema is not about the story, as it is about the telling, which is defined by economy. Less reveals more; the bigger picture is implicit in the several small moments, and there's conviction in the power of suggestion rather than overt explication.

CINEMA WITHOUT BORDERS

In this weekly column, the writer introduces you to powerful cinema from across the world

Film: If I Go Will They Miss Me

The seamless narrative moves fluidly and effortlessly between kitchen-sink drama and magical realism. The production design by Marina Perez makes for a great sense of place. There is a robust authenticity and detailing to the Black working-class Watts neighbourhood in South Los Angeles that the film is set in, right down to its proximity to the airport and hence the planes constantly flying above, for real as well as a steady metaphorical element. Despite the shabbiness of the ground reality, Lil Ant's flights of imagination are underlined with lyricism with cinematographer Michael Fernandez's gentle portraiture of the characters and Malcolm Parson's compositions in a wonderful cinematic harmony in building a sense of soulfulness that permeates the film alongside the several stresses, strains and breaking points. The film boasts of a wonderful soundtrack, with the cherry on the cake being Jon Batiste's 'This Bitter Earth'. The paintings that Lil Ant creates, his allusions to Greek mythology, comparing his dad to Odysseus and Poseidon and himself to the winged horse Pegasus, and the fanciful images he perceives of neighbourhood boys play acting like airplanes approximates the fickleness of their condition even as it adds a touch of the surreal to their dreams.

Eventually, it's all about the realisation dawning on Lil Ant that it's not just a name he has in common with his dad but a legacy of shared talent, dreams and ambitions, and pain and disappointments passed down generation to generation. It's about looking in the mirror to find your dad's reflection staring back at you. If I Go Will They Miss Me takes you through the bleak and gloomy corridors of life, but with poise and grace and draws out the poetic and profound from the prosaic.

Marali Manasagide receives positive early response ahead of release

CE FEATURES

MARALI MANASAGIDE, produced under the Benaka Talkies banner, is directed by Nagaraj Shankar and features Arjun Vedanth in the lead. The film, set for a theatrical release on February 12, has already generated a positive early response through paid premiere screenings held across Karnataka.

Produced by Mudegowda Naveen Kumar RO, Teligi Mallikarjunappa, Nagaraj Shankar, and Ashith Subrahmanya, Marali Manasagide is not just a routine romantic film, but a content-driven story that speaks to everyday emotions, relationships, and the choices people make when love re-enters their lives

For actor Arjun Vedanth, the film marks a deeply personal return to Kannada cinema. "After ten years, this film brings me back as a lead actor," he said, pointing out the coincidence that his earlier film Kudla Café was also released on February 12, a decade ago.

Interestingly, Marali Manasagide was screened in select locations, including Bengaluru, Puttur, and Udupi. According to the team, the reactions have been encouraging, strengthening their belief in the story they have told. Producer Muddegowda Naveen Kumar RO shared that his journey into cinema has been driven by long-standing inspiration.

"Challenging Star Darshan is the reason I wanted to enter the film industry," he said. "With the support of the entire team, we have made a film we believe in. I request audiences to watch it in theatres and encourage us."

Director Nagaraj Shankar, who makes his feature film debut with Marali Manasagide, spoke candidly about his background and approach. "This is my first film. I am originally an engineer," he said.

Prakash Raj joins Ajay Devgn's Drishyam 3

ON Tuesday, Prakash Raj took to social media to announce that he has begun filming for Ajay Devgn's Drishyam 3. Abhishek Pathak returns to direct the third instalment, which is set to release on October 2. Taking to his social handle, the actor wrote, "Started shooting for this engaging franchise Drishyam 3 in Hindi. With a wonderful team and a scintillating role to play. Im sure you will love it. (and yes im not replacing anyone)."

The actor's affirmation of not replacing anyone supposedly hints at how Akshaye Khanna dropped out of the film, due to unknown reasons.
